WILL AID BOMBED NEGROES

Plan Fund To Repair Damages

CLINTON, Tenn. — This town's eighth dynamite blast since court-ordered school integration commenced last fall has resulted in a Clinton Relief Fund and Police Chief Frances Moore labeling the explosion "attempted murder."

The special fund is being raised to repair damages done last Thursday night when a suitcase of dynamite, deposited by whites, exploded near the home of Alfred Williams, Negro student who was suspended after a clash with white students.

Extent of damages had not been determined at week end. However, Horace V. Wells, jr., publisher of the Clinton Courier-News, said a survey by his paper indicated some 30 homes and other buildings in a one-fourth mile area were damaged.

A three-man team of two white carpenters, H. L. McWane and James C. Lane, and a Negro employee of the post office, George Iker, were requested to make a survey to determine the damages by the Clinton Red Cross Disaster committee.

It was explained this is not a normal function of the committee but that it was undertaking the effort as there was no other group organized to carry out the survey.

W. H. Burris chairman of the disaster committee, Dr. C. L. Greene, Clinton dentist, is chairman of the Red Cross chapter. Mr. Wells said the newspaper's survey disclosed that a building damaged included the Negro elementary school, Green-McAdoo and a small Negro housing project by the same name.

The blast, placed within 50 feet of a dozen children and four adults, wrecked the home of Mrs. Ethel Gallagher and her four children and severely damaged the Chicken Shack restaurant of Earl Simmons. Two parked cars were damaged also.

Injured in the blast were Emma Mae Caradine, struck by bits of falling ceiling; Emma Simmons, hurled against a wall by the concussion, and Jacqueline Gallagher, 11 months, cut by falling glass.

Williams, a senior who was among the 12 Negroes first admitted to the high school, was suspended after he struck Dan Ward, 15, and reported pulled a knife when other white students crowded around him. Teachers broke it up.

Negro students, now down to six, claimed the white students were harassing them and Ward had been pointed out to Williams as one of those molesting him with such things as placing tacks in his seats.

Mrs. Juanita Moser, acting principal, suspended Williams indefinitely. Principal D. J. Brittain, jr., said Williams, 21, had a poor scholastic record and was not able to do the caliber of work required for graduation.

Clinton's Roses Amid Thorns

Out of the thorny situation existing at Clinton, Tennessee, a town too much beset by prejudice-bloated meddlers, spring forth some roses of consolation and hope for the town's future peace and growth in racial tolerance.

Among the roses are: The courage and consistency of the white high school principal, the forbearance and courage of the Negro pupils and their parents, the bravery of a Baptist minister and now the fairmindedness and courage of that segment of white Clinton citizens who propose to rebuild and repair the Negro homes destroyed and damaged in the recent dynamiting of a Negro neighborhood by parties "unknown," but easily suspected.

The position taken by those white citizens who propose to help the abused and put upon Negroes is a shining example of the spirit which makes America great, and lends hope for the country's future as a Christian democracy.

The Christian-hearted citizens of Clinton rate a vote of praise from every American whose faith is anchored in the conviction that every American kneels has not bowed the Baal of race hatred and bigotry, backed by sulking violence.

It's reassuring to know that there are still real Americans in Clinton.

New Leaders Of Teachers' Group

TEACHERS ELECT OFFICERS—For the first time in more than a decade, Memphis Negro school teachers took steps to form a professional organization designed to improve local school standards and to centralize their interests in their jobs. In a general meeting last Saturday at Booker T. Washington High school, with Supt. Ernest Ball presiding, Prof. Blair T. Hunt was named president by two-vote margin over Miss Willa McWilliams, of Manassas High. Miss McWilliams was elected vice president. Miss Maggie McDowell, of Melrose was voted secretary and Miss Hazel O. Lewis, treasurer.

Cora J. White Returns Feb. 24

Mrs. Cora Jordan White, outstanding social, civic, fraternal and religious worker, of Columbus, Ohio, will make her fourth consecutive visit to Memphis to deliver the principal address for Women's Day at Metropolitan Baptist church, Sunday, Feb. 24. The following series of programs constitute closing activities of the women for the month of February on Sunday, 24th Sunday school, 9 a.m.; Address by Rev. S. A. Owen, pastor; 11:00; dinner served, 1 p.m.; program and Miss White's address, 3:15 p.m.; training union, 5:45 p.m.; music and address, Mrs. White, 7:30 p.m.

Special music will be furnished for the big occasion by a large woman's chorus. Mrs. Flora Cochran, general chairman; Mrs. Sadie Hibbler, publicity chairman; Mrs. Laura Roberson, chairman of finance committee and Miss Edwina Hudson, secretary.

King Saud Arrives In Morocco For Visit

RABAT, Morocco — (INS) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia flew to Rabat from Spain yesterday for a week-long visit in Morocco. The monarch was greeted at the airport by Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, Prince Moulay Hassan, eldest son of the Sultan, Foreign Minister Berek El Bakkai and other officials of the Moroccan government.

Local Teachers Revive Defunct Association

For the first time in almost 20 years steps have been taken to organize the Negro public school teachers of Memphis as a group.

Last Saturday, at the regular teachers' meeting called by Supt. E. C. Ball at Booker T. Washington High School, approximately 1,000 Negro city teachers voted for the re-activation of the defunct Bluff City Teachers association by selecting a president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer to serve as officers of the revived organization.

Mr. Ball gave the idea for reviving the organization his blessing by mentioning the desirability of raising professional standards among the teachers through such means. He recalled that a Negro woman teacher, Mrs. Hazel Overton Lewis, had broached the subject to him some time previously and he had been favorable to the idea.

With Mr. Ball presiding, the teachers then elected the following officers to launch the organization: Prof. Blair T. Hunt, principal of Washington High, president; Miss Willa McWilliams, a Manassas elementary teacher, vice president; Miss Maggie McDowell, Melrose, secretary, and Mrs. Hazel O. Lewis, Melrose, treasurer.

It was announced that other officers to complete the structure of the teachers' association will be named at subsequent meetings.

SPRITED ELECTION

The vote for president was spirited and close following one teacher's observation that it would seem a more representative organization of teachers if a teacher were selected to head the group. But on this basis of the observation by another teacher that proven ability, achievement, experience and good judgment were personified in the person of Prof. Hunt, the veteran Washington principal was elected to lead the revived association.

Miss McWilliams lost in her bid for the presidency by only two votes, scoring a moral victory. Mr. Ball emphasized the need for raising professional standards and for organized steps to do a better job as a group, particularly in the face of the demands for increases in teachers' salaries and other pressures.

PRESENT AWARD

Another feature of the Saturday award of "appreciation for 25 years of dedicated service" to Mr. Ball. The award was presented by Prof. Harry Cash, principal of Hamilton High and chairman of the Memphis Negro Principals' organization. Visibly impressed, Mr. Ball made a gracious acceptance which moved the teachers to applause.

Let's Cooperate On This Plan

If organizations cooperate, this thing of everybody's big program falling on the same night or the same week end may soon be ended.

The Negro Chamber of Commerce, headed by William (Bill) Nabors, manager of LeMoine Gardens Housing project, has announced its willingness to serve as a clearing house for event dates.

C. J. Gaston, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce urges all local organizations to file their calendar of activities, especially those to which large audiences are expected, with its office.

YOU'RE LOSING SUPPORT

Mr. Gaston said "In the past there has been quite a bit of confusion relative to conflicts in dating of programs and other activities and many times two or more organizations select the same dates, resulting in loss of support each would have received had the dates been better staggered."

Organizations are urged to submit their calendars in writing to the Negro Chamber of Commerce, 234 Hernandez st.

If all organizations participate in the Chamber's project, organizations will be able to date their important events at a time when they will not be in competition with similar programs — or at least be aware from the outset what events will be rivaling theirs for the audience and patron support necessary for success.

Foes Oppose 5th Term As Leader

Baptist leaders and laymen throughout the country are brewing a "Tempest in the NBC Teapot," with the table to be set at the annual convention of the body in September, in Louisville.

Bone of contention is whether Dr. J. H. Jackson of Chicago shall be re-elected for a fifth term, or whether the "Tenure Amendment" shall be invoked, thus making it "illegal" for Dr. Jackson to again be a candidate for the highest office among 4,000,000 Baptists of America.

The pro-and anti-Jackson forces are forming their "battle lines" in almost every state in the Union. Various vocal groups are being organized to enable them to put up a solid front when the gavel sounds in Louisville.

STATE LEADERS

Best organized group opposing the Jackson candidacy are the presidents of 28 Baptist State conventions who demand that the Tenure Amendment be strictly followed.

The amendment states specifically that no president of NBC, Inc., can serve more than four consecutive terms, and Dr. Jackson has already served his allotted four terms.

The State presidents' opposition group is headed by Dr. W. H. Borders, Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. J. Carl Mitchell, Huntington, W. Va., and Dr. T. M. Chambers, Los Angeles, chairman, secretary and treasurer, respectively of the organization.

Committee members include J. L. Horace, Illinois; L. A. Pinkston, Georgia; E. C. Smith, Washington, D. C.; J. Raymond Henderson, Los Angeles; Roland Smith, Ark., and W. F. Alford, Alabama.

A strong supporter of the Jackson candidacy is Dr. Thomas S. Harten, pastor of Holy Trinity Baptist church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and senior vice president of the convention. Addressing a capacity meeting of the Baptist Conference of Greater New York, Dr. Harten stated:

"There is an unmistakable indication that the National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc., largest Negro organization in America, will stand predominantly behind the retention of Dr. J. H. Jackson as president. This and the fact of his outstanding administration, favor his retention."

"We need Dr. Jackson more than he needs us. We were sitting on a powder keg when he came forth as a man of wisdom and vision to guide the convention. In

SUBDIVISION RESIDENTS

Angry Over Mixed Love Nest In Neighborhood

WANT HIM OUT — The residents of a neighborhood in the Walker Homes want the WHITE driver of a 1956 Chevrolet pick-up truck to know that he is UNWELCOME in the area as a party in an "affair" with a Negro woman they report, resides in the house at left shown. The license number on the truck

Residents of Walker Homes are indignant over a bold "intimate affair" between a young white man and a Negro woman in their midst.

Neighbors report that the woman, whose name has not been obtained, moved from Arkansas recently into the beige colored, brown top house at 3541 Daggett rd. They state that the white man established residence for her in their neighborhood after his wife discovered the clandestine relationship and made it difficult for the affair to continue in Arkansas.

Full identification of the white man had not been established as of Monday, Feb. 18. Neighbors do know that he drives a green 1956 Chevrolet pick-up truck, whose Arkansas license number is A 100 826. The license is registered in the name of Clyde Graham, of Route 1, Box 109, Tyrone, Ark. This vehicle has been seen parked at the Daggett rd. address almost every day in the week, it was reported. A newsman saw it there Sunday, Feb. 17 between the hours of 10:30 and 1 p.m.

KEEPS TO SELF

When a call was made at the house to solicit delivery of a newspaper Sunday, Feb. 17, the person who came to the door stated: "The folks here are still in bed."

Women of the neighborhood said that the Arkansas woman has not made any attempt to win friends among them, that she keeps to herself, and has two other quite frequent female visitors, who are strangers to the neighborhood.

One housewife observed: "Politicians, pro-segregationists and agitators are setting up a hue and cry all over the South to preserve segregation in every walk of life. Yet, we here find that a white man is living brazenly with a Negro woman in our neighborhood, which we want to keep respectable for ourselves and our children. If this was the reverse, in a white neighborhood, city and county police would have swarmed all over the place long ago."

SAYS "WOMAN IS FREE"

One neighbor reported that she mentioned the case to a white insurance agent for a funeral home, which is serving Negroes here in Memphis. His comment was, she said: "The woman is free to do whatever she wants. As you know, there are only two free persons in the South. . . The Negro

Launch Smear Campaign

Hint Ike Has Color Lineage

It's nothing new for President's to be smeared and the current whispering campaign of not-so-subtle hints about President Eisenhower's color ancestry likewise is not a new twist.

Back in the 1920 campaigning there were rumors that

Warren G. Harding was colored and even after his election rumors about his racial identity continued. Then during President Franklin D. Roosevelt's four terms there were circulated leaflets, implying that he was colored, next that he was a Jew.

Now comes an appeal to racial prejudice intended to defame President Eisenhower and embarrass Chief Justice Earl Warren, Hon. Adam Clayton Powell, and Eleanor Roosevelt.

A LEAFLET

It is a widely distributed leaflet in which it is implied that President Eisenhower is colored. The leaflet is printed on plain white paper. It is headed "The aged resident of Staunton, John T. Wine, told the story of a little girl who went to school with him in that shanty. She was the daughter of a white abolitionist, Simon Stover, who married a Negro (sic) girl, Elizabeth Juda, who had been adopted by the Link family.

"Simon Stover resolved that his daughter should go to school with the white children. But when little Lizzie Stover came up to that schoolhouse, she was met with jeers and derision from the white pupils, the same ordeal that the colored children of Clinton are enduring today."

"After her parents disappeared, Lizzie Stover went to the Midwest and married a white man. In his stirring book, 'Eisenhower, Man and Soldier', Francis Trevelyan Miller describes her fierce resolve, on page 81:

"I had two ambitions now — the first to be a good wife and mother, the second to advance world brotherhood. She was eager to wipe out racial prejudices, to raise the Negro to the status of equal citizenship."

Senator Gore Stands Pat

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Threatened with "political retaliation" by the Shelby County States Rights party over the naming of two Memphis Negro youths as candidates for appointment to the Air Force Academy, Sen. Albert Gore told the State Rights he made no attempt to investigate the race or religious affiliation of any of the nine Tennessee youths he named to compete for appointment to the academy. The two youths are Jarrett Boone, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Boone, of 551 Boyd and Willie Garrett, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Garrett of 508 E. Georgia. Both are seniors at St. Augustine High of Memphis.

White Students Fight African Bias

CAPE TOWN, South Africa — White students of South Africa's two non-segregated universities have taken the lead in a late stand against the government's university apartheid (segregation) plan. Students from Capetown and Witwatersrand universities asked Minister of Education Jan Viljoen to meet a deputation which would put before him their strong feelings on the issue. The letter was accompanied by a petition with 1,600 signatures. The minister refused to see the deputation or to receive the petition saying the government could deal with universities only through their councils. The councils oppose apartheid, but do not plan to comment on laws supporting it.

Memphis Baha'i Takes Part In History Week

The Memphis Baha'i Community were hosts at an informal dinner, Feb. 12 at 6:45 in the assembly room of the YWCA, of 541 Vance ave., which preceded the program arranged by the Baha'is in observance of Negro History Week. The occasion was of special significance as it marked the effort of a group professing their creed not only in words, but in action, in the belief, as stated by Dr. Paul N. Carnes, one of the four principal speakers of the evening, that "One picture is worth a thousand words."

Following the banquet, Miss Mary Louise Rapault, local white artist who studied in Italy under a Guggenheim Fellowship, was the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Florence McCleave.

Master of ceremonies was Mr. Cohen, of the Baha'i community who stated they welcomed the opportunity to assist in focusing public attention to its theme, "The Oneness of Mankind."

REV. HOOKS SPEAKS
Rev. B. L. Hooks, well known minister, lawyer and civic leader, was the first of four speakers. He gave a brilliant summation on the Negro's history. His review of the history was divided 1619-1863; his struggle — The Civil War — 1861-1877; and tion into the social and civic life of America on the basis of equality as a citizen.

Rev. Hooks traced the course of the Negro in America, correlating the Reconstruction Period to the present — an another attempt to remake the Negro and fit him into the American picture.

MISS MCWILLIAMS
Miss Willa McWilliams, vice president of PTA, Secretary of North Memphis Civic Club, assistant secretary of the Bluff City Civic clubs, elementary teacher at Manassas school and chairman of the Manassas Public Relations committee, was eloquent in her address. "The Hope for the Future," she stated the hope for the future to be for peace, justice and brotherhood; and that she was a believer of hope and in the inevitability of gradualism — but not gradualism of the status quo ideal, but rather progress made through evolution instead of revolution and — but with steady determination to end that America must make progress and must make it with all of its citizens. She continued that with the privileges of equal accord to all citizens, Negroes must accept the moral, social and civic responsibilities that are a part of the privileges they seek.

REV. PAUL CARNES
Rev. Paul D. Carnes, the third speaker, a graduate of the University of Indiana, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, a graduate of the Harvard Divinity school and the pastor of the Unitarian church in Memphis, spoke on the "Need For Cooperation."

Declaring that he spoke for three minorities, being a Yankee, a Unitarian and considered a radical because of his views and work in the field of race relations he continued that brotherhood in Memphis keeps people on their toes. He commended the Memphis Baha'is, a small and virtually unknown group, who have demonstrated the existence of Brotherhood, with undertaking a program such as this, a fine example of the Chinese adage, "One picture is worth a thousand words." He quoted the late Gertrude Stein, who declared, "Look how far the Negro has advanced, and those who have attempted to hold him back have stood still."

Dr. Carnes further stated that, "very little will be given to the Negro. He will get what he demands and uses." He noted that there is not enough Negro cooperation, and that there is a lack of leadership, particularly among the ministers. He pointed out that a new minister group is emerging, capped with courage, with whom a sense of cooperation will develop. He cited "The Rev. Martin Luther King's rise in the fight for equality, plus the struggle against less than four years he has led the convention to a tremendous success, and he has not yet given the fullest capacity of his leadership to the denomination and to America." Rev. H. C. Nabrit, pastor of first Baptist Church, Lauderdale, Memphis, said: "The convention in Louisville will support tenure. Dr. Jackson has served his statutory limitation. The constitution will be sustained."

Problems Involving Elderly People Can Be Solved Thru Family Service

By REV. S. A. OWENS
Member Advisory & Case Committee.

When the Advisory and Case committee of Family Service met Wednesday, Feb. 6, among the things we discussed were ways to give better service to our older people.

As a minister and member of for more than 20 years, I have come to know the valuable service this agency gives to families — husbands and wives, adolescent boys and girls, children and those getting along in years.

"OUT OF THINGS" Maybe you are one of the more than 12,000,000 Americans now past 65. Perhaps you have retired and are wondering why you feel "out of things" and why life seems to be hurrying by you. You may even feel downright unhappy.

If so, perhaps some suggestions on how older people can attain greater happiness may help. The professionally trained caseworkers on the staff of Family Service of Memphis believe that the well-being and peace of mind of members of the older generation are vital to good family for all. Let me tell you about Family Service's help to two of the older people in our city.

FELT UNWANTED

One day last fall, in the sunny window in his big rocking chair, old Mr. Ross dozed to the comforting ticking of the clock. "Zoom I'm a space rocket!" shattered the peace. The youthful "rocket" and two other small boys shot through the room and jarred Grandpa angrily awake. Mother, with floury hands, rushed from the kitchen. "Oh, how those boys need a good hard spanking!" muttered the old man. The mother, not saying a word, shoed the children out of doors.

Well, Mr. Ross thought, he should be used to being disregarded in his son's home. Nothing but loneliness since he came. No one to talk politics with. And those arguments! How could he help hearing his daughter-in-law complain, "That sagging chair!" or, "The kids just can't keep quiet all the time." And his son's voice rising, "He's my father and his place is here, in my home!" At those times the old clock's rhythm said over and over, "Useless . . . not wanted. . ."

Not long afterward Mr. Ross, junior, went to Family Service about the discord at home. The caseworker there thought through with him many things — his wife's extra burden — the children's need to romp and play — the old man's lack of companionship. Together he and the caseworkers totaled the family could afford a boarding place for him. The elder Mr. Ross — independent, eyes still keen — thought he'd like the boarding home. He moved there, and now he and some elderly friends enjoy talks about the state of the nation and the good old days. Sunday is family dinner day, and the little boys shout a happy welcome, "Grandpa's here" when he arrives.

For another older person there was a different answer. Mrs. Howell frail, white-haired, had reared her granddaughter, Ann. Now Ann was married to Clint Wallace and Mrs. Howell, depressed, felt in the way. Ann worked out of the home and was no company her. The old lady brooded. . . self pity expanded. To get away from her complaining voice, Clint fled the house, staying out later and later. Ann Wallace was desperate. Should she place her grandmoter in an institution? That first long session with the caseworker began to clear her thoughts. She came to see the old lady's crossness as really a cry for help. Ann felt relieved and hopeful. At home she put her arms around her grandmother and they held each other tight.

Mrs. Howell responded to interest shown by the Family Service caseworker, and one of the volunteers paid friendly visits and took her on short outings. The old lady began going to church and joined a sewing circle. The young couple listened more thoughtfully to her ideas. No doctor could have prescribed better medicine. Step by step Mrs. Howell has been led back into the reassuring feeling of being wanted and needed.

These are two of the older citizens helped by Family Service to make their later years more happy and fruitful. . . to come to know the scriptural truth, "He hath made everything beautiful in his time."

Thus a bastion of democracy will rise on the scene of a little girl's tragedy, a little girl who must have lain awake at night, her pillow wet with tears, never dreaming that she would become the mother of a president who would avenge the wrongs done to her people.

"We need your help in this project. Send all donations to the Hon. Adam Clayton Powell, House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C."

The leaflet, of course, is a complete fabrication.

President Eisenhower was born the son of David Jacob Eisenhower and Ida Elizabeth Stover Eisenhower. His paternal grandfather descended from German Mennonites who left the Rhineland for Pennsylvania in the 1730's and moved to Kansas in 1878.

His father met his mother at Lane university, a United Brethren college at Lecompton, Kan.

When Dwight was one year old, his parents moved to Abilene, Kan., where his father worked as a mechanic in a creamery.

But people are gullible. Powell is receiving communications from all over this country and from places as far away as Germany about the Lizzie Stover College Fund. Some are enclosing money, others are planning to raise money.

Powell is returning all of the money sent him for the fund, and to all inquiries he is replying: "I know nothing whatsoever about the Lizzie Stover college nor fund appeal. I have never authorized the use of my name in this connection, nor have I ever been requested to do so."

"The entire affair is a hoax and a fraud perpetrated by persons unknown to me and designed to embarrass Chief Justice Warren, Mrs. Roosevelt and myself — leaders in the integration fight."

"The matter has been reported to the Justice Department."

at Washington High school. All the school's musical aggregations, spearheaded by the popular Washington High School band, directed by Prof. W. T. McDaniels, will be combined in the program of music planned. The band will be assisted on the program by the Senior Glee club, directed by E. C. Pender, and by the St. Cecilia Glee club, directed by Mrs. Catherine Johnson. A special girls' dance group will add variety to the program.

ADMISSION FREE

The concert will begin at 8:15. Admission is 50 cents, with the proceeds being assigned to pay for much needed uniforms for the band.

A concert Committee of Washington faculty members is sponsoring the project, with Prof. McDaniels as chairman, and including E. C. Pender, Charles Tarpoley, Nat D. Williams, F. M. Jordan, E. T. Hunt, Wm. Parker, Miss Dora Todd, Mrs. H. A. Roberts, Mrs. Catherine Simmons, Catherine Johnson, Mrs. Bernice Barber, Miss Annie L. Ingram, and Miss Cynthia Green. Prof. B. T. Hunt, principal, is chairman ex-officio.

Dixie Lawyer

Named U.S. Judge

WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Eisenhower yesterday nominated Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr., a Greenville, S. C., lawyer, to be U.S. Circuit Court judge for the fourth circuit.

The circuit embraces the states of Maryland, North and South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Haynsworth, 47, is a member of the South Carolina bar and has practiced law in Greenville since 1934. He is a member of the American Bar Association and the South Carolina Bar Association.

He was born in Greenville, S. C., and graduated from the University of South Carolina in 1931. He served in the U.S. Army during World War II.

Hate And Cowardice

Last hursday night, Feb. 14, a car with several occupants rolled to a stop on a battered street in a Negro neighborhood. One person lugged a suitcase from the car and dropped it "within 50 feet of a dozen children and four adults." The man ran back to the car, got in and the auto sped away.

A few minutes later there was a terrific explosion. Three persons, including one child, were injured; two buildings and two automobiles were severely damaged. The suitcase had been laden with dynamite. It was the eighth such explosion, the latter the worst, in the community since integration of the local white school.

The setting, of course, was the Negro neighborhood of Clinton, Tenn.

This was the latest move on the part of pro-segregationists to drive the few Negro students from the Clinton high school.

One well-known writer, Junius, said years ago: "... It is the coward who is insolent whenever he dares be so."

A n d an old proverb states: "Cowards are cruel."

Both adages fit the dynamite attack in Clinton. Only the cruel and ignorant would so endanger the lives of innocent children and adults.

The persons who took the dynamite to the neighborhoods are not wholly to blame. They are tools of a widespread conspiracy which reaches into high places. The plot is to (1) discredit the Supreme Court edicts on equality and justice, (2) enact local laws that will entangle and delay efforts to integrate and to (3) employ violent hit and run tactics to engender fear in Negroes.

It was thought by quite a number of un-informed whites that Gov. Clement's anti-integration bills would reverse the integration at Clinton High. Thus, there was disappointment when the governor made clear that state laws in that case would not supersede the ruling of the federal court. One might ask, what is the expected reaction from fear-ridden, hate-embittered whites? Simply: "Let's put the fear of G o d in them N . . . rs."

Montgomery, Ala. citizens apparently are putting a stop to explosions which mushroomed in that city, because the sensible people in the community realize (1) such viciousness is wholly unnecessary, and (2) they know that the same evil can boomerang against whites over an unpopular issue. The FBI moved into the picture there. The local police department was ordered to get results, and favorable results have been obtained.

It is most difficult to reason on an ethical level with a human tool who has sunk so low that he or she will murder a Negro rather than comply with the law of the land.

Such a person or persons can only understand and respect the application of the full weight of the law. That's why we need and must have the civil rights program recommended by President Eisenhower. In many instances in the South the local juries, courts, and police are going to conform to the "feelings" of the communities, regardless of the great injustices perpetrated, rather than true justice under the law when it comes to the Negro.

Our salvation lies in non-violence and continual struggle within the framework of the federal law. In the latter we have a powerful, unbiased ally. Violence from whites is not going to deter the NEW NEGRO in this campaign for full emancipation.

As to the hate from his enemies, the Negro understands as Galsworthy said:

"You can't hate something that means nothing."

Since the Negro means a great deal to this democracy of ours, we shall see whether the good people of Clinton stand up and meet the challenge hurled in that community by an evil, cowardly few.

Beauticians To Meet On West Coast

Mme. Marjorie Stewart Joyner, National Supervisor of United Beauty School Owners and Teachers Association and Alpha Chi Pi Omega Sorority and Fraternity announces the 12th annual convention of the original Greek letter organization of beauticians, the Alpha Chi Pi Omega sorority and fraternity, April 28 through May 4, 1957.

Headquarters for the Convention will be the Bellevue hotel in San Francisco and the Alexandria hotel in Los Angeles.

A three-day seminar of teachers of the various vocational high schools and private schools of beauty culture will be one of the convention highlights, as plans for integration in these various schools will be completed.

The nation's outstanding teachers, hair stylists and make-up artists, along with Hollywood artists and professors from UCLA, will appear on the various programs.

GIFT IN MEMORY

President Richard V. Moore of Bethune-Cookman College will be the guest speaker and receive the organization's annual gift in memory and honor of the late Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune. Each year for the past 11 years more than $5,000 has been given Bethune-Cookman College and the Mary McLeod Bethune Foundation as a tribute to the outstanding work of Dr. Bethune and her assistance to the beauticians of the nation.

The national presidents, Laura Buchanan, Lillian Robinson, Edie Burks and the complete official group invite the beauticians of the nation to attend.

HARRY A. STUHLREHER, a member of Knute Rockne's famous "Four Horsemen" and an All-American quarterback on the undefeated Notre Dame squad of 1924, will be a midwinter convocation speaker at Jackson State college Thursday, Feb. 21. An Assistant to the vice-president of U. S. Steel Corporation, Mr. Stuhlreher was born and raised in Massillon, Ohio.

Porter PTA Makes Plans For Program

Outstanding community problems were discussed at the executive meeting of Porter PTA, Wednesday, Feb. 13. The president, Mrs. Dante Strong, presided.

Members discussed the adoption of the budget of the Board of Education of the Memphis City Schools. Letters had previously been sent to the Mayor, Commissioners and Comptroller urging its adoption.

TEENAGE DRINKING

Also discussed was the problem of teenage drinking, in which letters have been sent relative to the launching of a recent campaign to curb the selling of alcoholic beverages to minors or persons purchasing for them.

Some tentative plans were made for the improvement of pupil attendance which has become a major problem.

R. B. Thompson, principal, called attention to the number of petty crimes being committed by teenagers and the general attitudes toward confinement in Juvenile Court.

Plans are under way for the annual Tea to be held Sunday, April 28. Funds are secured through a souvenir program of patrons at $1 each and also ads.

Memphis Sinfonietta Schedules Two Stops For Concerts At BTW

Because of the tremendous demand for tickets, the Memphis Sinfonietta under the direction of Vincent de Frank will appear twice in the Booker T. Washington auditorium. This is the first in the series of Youth Concerts inaugurated by the orchestra for school children this year. That two concerts have been necessary to meet the public demand. On Feb. 23 at 2:30 p.m. Booker T. Washington will play host to students from Porter, Leath, Alonzo Locke, Kertrecht and St. Augustine. On Feb. 27 the orchestra will perform in the auditorium of Booker T. Washington at 2:30 p.m. for students from Booker T. Washington, La Rose, Kansas and Wisconsin.

"Even with the two concerts," said Mrs. Georgia Bumpus, president of the Bluff City PTA Council which is cooperating with ticket sales, "We are afraid we will not be able to accommodate all the children who will want to attend the concert. The tickets will be on a first-come-first-serve basis, and we urge all interested parents to see that their children apply for tickets through their own schools as soon as possible as we expect all tickets to be gone by the end of next week."

FINER ACoustICS

Seating capacity of the Booker T. Washington auditorium is 1,100, which is the factor which limits the number of tickets available. Mr. de Frank prears that the orchestra perform in an auditorium rather than in a gymnasium, which would allow larger attendance, because of the finer acoustics and more comfortable seating an auditorium makes possible. Those who hear the concert will enjoy the orchestra at its best.

Working with Mrs. Bumpus in handling tickets are teachers in the schools and the following PTA representatives: Mrs. D. D. Strong, Porter; Mrs. Emma McGowan, Alonzo Locke; Mrs. Grace Malone, Kertrecht; Mrs. M. S. Draper, Booker T. Washington; Mrs. Julia Clay, Kansas and Mrs. Pearl Martin, Wisconsin.

BTW Students Mark Negro History Week

By ELIZABETH A. LACEY

The students of Booker T. Washington High school observed the 33rd annual Negro History Week—since its founding in 1924 by historian Carter G. Woodson—with an inspiring program sponsored by the Student Council.

Speaker for the observance was Rev. P. E. Brooks, who addressed both the program for the juniors and seniors and the later one for the freshmen and sophomores.

Rev. Brooks spoke from the subject, "Negroes In Our Midst." Mistress of ceremonies for the junior-senior program was Miss Jacqueline Washburn, who was presented by the student council president, Edgar Young.

Rev. Brooks was presented by John Taylor.

Mistress of ceremonies for the freshman-sophomore program was Miss Sandra Pegues, also presented by Mr. Young.

Prof. Blair T. Hunt, principal, made remarks on both programs. Music for the programs was provided by the St. Cecilia Glee club under the direction of Mrs. C. R. Johnson, the senior glee club and the band.

Student speakers on the programs included Jo Terrell Lamondue, "Why We Are Here," Juanita Ogilvia, "The Meaning of Negro Spirituals."

MI Club To Present Choir

The Mississippi Industrial college club has completed plans to present the MI college choir club here Friday night, March 29 at Warner Temple AME Zion church, Mississippi blvd. at Williams ave.

Tickets are now on sale by all members of the club.

All former students and friends are urged to support the program.

Mrs. Sarah D. Brown is president of the club; Mrs. Louis Emery, secretary and Miss M a r y Moore, reporter.

Campership Loans Available For Girl Scouts Going To Tapawingo

Dear Girl Scout Leaders:

The Camp Tapawingo committee has made great plans for your girls at our established camp in Como, Miss. and are hoping that you will get your girls to attend this summer.

Last year we had horseback riding, boating and swimming, along with the other camp activities. We plan to have these visits to the Historic Sardis Dam.

It is going to be a wonderful experience for the girls who come to camp. We have trained life guards and excellent staff members who know the scouting program and work with all during the year. Think of what this will mean to the parents of the girls!

As you know, we are also offering campership loans to girls who wish to attend but do not have all of their camp fee. Talk this over with those parents who are interested.

Radio station WDIA has allocated money for this and we do want to show them our appreciation for this by having the girls use this money.

Also we have the camp stamp plan. You remember the W a r stamps? Well, our plan operates just like this except that you leaders get the stamps and booklets and issue these to the girls as they pay for them. Stamps come in 10 cent and 25 cent denominations. So if you get your girls started now, they can save their $25 by June 11.

will be guest speaker. Music will be provided by the band and faculty male quartet. The public at large is invited to attend the program, Thursday, Feb. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the School Cafeteria. The next meeting of the executive committee will be Wednesday, March 13, 3:30 p.m. at the School.

Mrs. Richard Brazan has gotten 10 girls in her neighborhood started on this plan. She is chairman of the Southwest Suburban Scouts. (Walker homes—Geeter—Weaver Area)

Mrs. Levi Anderson of the Klondike Scouts is talking these plans to all of her Scouts and parents and she feels that Klondike will be represented at Como this summer.

Dr. Jackson, Foot Doctor, Buried Here

Funeral rites for Dr. J. T. Jackson, of 588 Alston, who was this city's only licensed Negro chiropodist, were held recently at St. Andrew AME church with the pastor, Rev. H. Ralph Jackson, officiating.

Dr. Jackson was ill in bed two days before his death. He was 67. Burial was in Mt. Carmel cemetery, Qualls Funeral Home in charge.

Born in New Bern, N. C., Dr. Jackson did his early school work there and in Petersburg, Va. He earned his DSC degree at the Illinois College of Chiropody.

For 29 years he had his offices on Beale st. at Third.

Two years ago he moved his office to his home on Alston.

He was a member of St. Andrew AME.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Estelle Washburn Jackson and four children, John T., jr., of Memphis; Benjamin W., a student at Howard university; Ernest W., of Memphis, and Miss Anita L. Jackson, a student at Knoxville college.

Killer Of Ga. NAACP Head Found Slain

COLUMBUS, Ga. — Luico Flowers, 55-year-old white storekeeper who last year shot and killed Thomas H. Brewer, 61-year-old physician and NAACP leader, was found fatally injured in the trance-way to a theatre for Negroes across the street from store last week.

He had been shot in the temple apparently with a .45 calibre pistol. He died a few hours later.

According to police, Flowers' calibre pistol was found on sidewalk a few feet from body. The front of buildings nearby indicated several shots had been fired, in addition to the one which struck the dead man.

It was in February, 1956, Flowers' office, that the shooting of Dr. Brewer occurred. He claimed he shot in self defense when the physician threatened him.

Muskegon county grand jury refused to indict the storekeeper with more than 100 name brands. It carries a complete line cleaning equipment and solutions. Check the Chasco Chemical Company's ad in this issue. make a list of supplies you need and call Mr. Wallace at JA 0321 for free delivery service. He will be happy to serve you.

Cancer Society Short On Help:

Can you spare four hours a week to help fight cancer? Can you type, file, drive a car, or run a movie projector?

Women for these jobs are "desperately needed" to continue the mushrooming public service and information activities of the American Cancer Society's Memphis and Shelby County Unit, says Mrs. Howell Fason, executive secretary.

"We are asking the women of Memphis to give four hours of their time a week to help cancer patients and to help inform other women about cancer facts. This is a vital service which can only be done by unselfish volunteers who want to give their time to one of the worst causes I know — striking back at cancer," Mrs. Fason said.

Mrs. Poston Cox, volunteer service chairman, is recruiting women for typing and other clerical duties 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. at the Cancer Society's offices at 13 N. Main St. Mrs. Walter Vaughn, transportation chairman, needs women with cars to drive cancer patients to and from bus stops and the West Tennessee Cancer Clinic, 787 Jefferson, during the same hours — 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

Mrs. L. M. Graves, public education and information chairman, is looking for projectionists to show the American Cancer Society's film, "Self-Examination of the Breast", to women's groups and to club meetings during various mornings, afternoons and nights.

The 25-minute sound movie, screen, and projector are lent free by the Cancer Society to women who hold home showings for their friends. Mrs. Graves said today that classes to train projectionists will begin soon.

To register as a volunteer for any of these services, call Mrs. Fason, JA. 5-0405, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Church Notes by HATTIE HOUSE

Besides providing a perfect day for church-going, nature seemed to have added an extra special dash of morning sunshine as inducement for those would be Sunday-school-goers "if only we could awaken on time." No one... simply no one... not even Sleeping Beauty could snore with Sunday's rays of sunshine streaming through every opening in the blinds, ceilings and covers. The logical assumption? Everyone found his or her way, Sunday, to that familiar seat of years past in that ever faithful Sunday school teachers class.

Sunday school was not the hour of concentration, Sunday. For Sundays in February are better known as Installation Days.

UNION VALLEY BAPTIST
Installation of the Mother Board spotlighted the 3 p.m. hour at Union Valley Baptist church, Sunday. Entering their offices with an optimistic outlook for the year were Mrs. Emma Buckner, president; Mrs. Pearl Moore, secretary; Mrs. Virgie Lee McKissic, treasurer and Mrs. Fannie Higgins, chaplain. A program was given especially for the new officers.

Under the skilled leadership of Mrs. Mitchell, the superintendent, and Bennie Lewis, the assistant superintendent, the current Sunday school drive was brought to a successful head at 9:30 a.m. Anticipating even greater success are the sponsors of the Pledge Drive which will culminate next Sunday. All drives are aimed at boosting the church's building fund.

Other services at the house of reverence will be regular Sunday.

ST. STEPHEN BAPTIST
It was the Male Chorus' Annual Day at St. Stephen Baptist church, Sunday. Speaking for the occasion was Rev. P. G. Hentzel, the pastor of Trinity CME church. Rev. Hentzel spoke on "The Glorification of Self Denial." Chorus from the following churches were guest: Trinity CME, Shiloh Baptist and New Salem Baptist. Sunday's worship will be under the auspices of young people.

Rev. O. C. Criven is the pastor.

NEW HOPE BAPTIST
Adding a bit of variety to New Hope's schedule, Sunday, was the installation of the U.S. - S. Board. The pastor, Rev. Charles Burge, administered the charge to the proud officers. They are Frank Sparnes, chief; A. D. Thomas, asst. chief; Mrs. Teresa McMillan, chief; Mrs. Estella Drape, asst. chief; Cleve Holiday, president; Mrs. Emma Wilkins, vice president; Mrs. Ernestine Holliday, secretary; Mrs. Relia M. Jones, asst. secretary; Mrs. Evelyn Spann, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Cornelius Meadows, treasurer; Mrs. Viola Robinson, chaplain and Maxie Thorto, finance chairman. On hand to congratulate the incumbents were the usher boards of Summerfield and

Youths Need Job Motivations

Industry, Labor, Schools, Parents Must Help

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Cooperative efforts by all elements of the community — and particularly by industry, labor and the schools — are necessary to stimulate more Negro young people to acquire skills for better employment, speakers told a Youth Training - Incentives Conference here.

The one-day conference, sponsored by the President's Committee on Government Contracts with the cooperation of the American Personnel and Guidance Association, was attended by more than 200 leaders of business, labor and education from 16 metropolitan centers.

The President's Committee called the conference because it is convinced that the motivation of more youth to seek better training "is an indispensable part of the total effort to free the potential of millions of Americans for useful and, indeed, vital contributions to the growth and progress of the nation," according to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, vice chairman of the committee.

NEED INSPIRATION

Lester B. Granger, executive secretary of the National Urban League, described the meeting as "the most important national conference on job training of youth in recent years." He pointed out that the rate at which new job opportunities have developed for Negro youth has been more rapid than the rate of preparation for them. "We are now frequently in the paradoxical position of having effected a break-through on certain job fronts, without having enough 'troops' to hold and expand the field won," he said. Gains in new job fields will be made only when there are qualified Negroes available, he added. The work experience of most Negro parents "has been unimpressive" and consequently few of the Negro youth receive "any real inspiration or stimulation" from the adults in their own families, he said.

Leadership groups within the Negro community are frequently "so isolated from the 'main stream' of community contacts" that they are unable to give the youth and their parents effective help in learning about new opportunities that are developing, he said. "Here, there is a real challenge to the Negro community," he pointed out. He urged leaders of educational institutions, business and labor to undertake programs which would provide the youth with the knowledge of job opportunities which will give them reason to seek higher training. They should be presented with tangible, visible evidence that such training is worthwhile and will yield rewards in terms of profitable employment and careers, he said.

"If we are to make use of the enormous potential of the Negro, and help him to lift himself from the unskilled to the skilled category, we must first see that he is motivated to take full advantage of his educational opportunities," he said. At present, about 65,000 Negroes graduate from high school each year. It has been estimated that the number could be increased to 158,000.

"We must find ways to make achievements that were possible for them 10 years ago — or even yesterday. Youth now entering school must strive for goals which, while they may not be widely recognized today, will be well within reach by the time they are ready for employment," he added.

Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of Radio Corporation of America, called upon industrial leaders to help in the training of minority groups so that they will be able to take their places on the skilled labor job front. He said that his firm places qualified Negroes in positions of high responsibility, in all divisions of the company.

He said industry must work closely with organizations active in the intergroup relations field and participate in conferences sponsored by Negro churches and other community organizations with a view toward stimulating the interest of high school students in technological careers. His own company sends scouts to many Negro colleges to search for promising young men and women.

BARRIERS HURT

Boris Shishkin, director of the Civil Rights Department of the AFL-CIO, said the unity and integrity of the nation itself is threatened by barriers that block the flow of students into suitable training for skilled work. He urged that the U. S. Employment Service discontinue all racial classifications.

Speakers from Chicago, Cincinnati and Detroit described steps already being taken in those cities to motivate more youth to seek higher training.

OTHE SPEAKERS

Other speakers included Dr. Clifford P. Froehlich, Berkeley, California, president of the American Personnel and Guidance Association; Thomas H. Coulter, Chief Executive Officer, Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry; Dr. Kenneth Lund, Assistant Superintendent of the Chicago Public Schools; Dr. Claude V. Courter, superintendent of the Cincinnati Public Schools; Russell Leach, president, Local 111 of the UAW, Detroit; William E. Sturton of the Automotive Tool and Die Manufacturers Association, Detroit; and Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, superintendent of the Detroit Public Schools and former U. S. commissioner of education.

Cities represented included Atlanta, Baltimore, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Mo., Los Angeles, Louisville, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Washington, D. C.

ORANGE MOUND JUNIOR CIVIC CLUB held its installation of officers in January at the Beulah Baptist church. Rev. Alexander Gladney preached the installation sermon and William Reed, president of the Whitehaven Civic club, installed the officers. Nabors Installed As New C Of C President

W. F. (Bill) Nabors, manager of LeMoine Gardens Housing Project, was installed Feb. 12, as president of the Memphis Negro Chamber of Commerce.

The installation meeting was held in the assembly hall of Universal Life Insurance Company. Along with Mr. Nabors the following officers were installed by Dr. J. E. Walker, chairman of the board of Universal Life. S. L. Jones, 1st vice president; Napoleon Williams, 2nd vice president; Dr. E. A. Witherspoon, 3rd vice president; J. A. Olive, treasurer, and C. J. Gaston, executive secretary. Dr. Walker said the Negro Chamber of Commerce was founded over 30 years ago, and it has certainly played some part in the business and civic life of the community. Dr. Walker further stated that the future of the Chamber rests in the hands of the young men of today.

The principal speech was made by George Bates, president of Memphis Sales Executive Council. Mr. Bates stressed the value rendering service to our fellow man as a means of self advancement.

The Chamber meets the second Tuesday in each month at 8 p.m. in the YMCA building. Business men and women are invited to attend these meetings.

Cheese is so popular that a cook can be pretty sure of a welcome for a dish that features cheese.

More than a billion pounds of cheese are made in the United States every year and about three-fourths of this is the type named cheddar. People in this country often call this type American Cheddar because it is so widely used and liked. In flavor it ranges from mild to sharp or tangy and in color from almost white to yellow orange.

Cheddar Cheese, made from sweet whole milk, contains in concentrated form the many different nutrients that whole milk provides. So when you feature cheese in a dish, the family eats some of the milk that is so valuable in the diet. To single out 3 nutrients: milk is our leading source of calcium, one of the chief minerals needed for good bones and teeth. An ounce and a half of cheddar cheese has as much calcium as a cup of milk. Cheddar cheese contains almost all of the protein in milk—which is high quality protein like that in meat, fish, poultry and eggs, and it contains worthwhile amounts of the B Vitamin riboflavin, which is sometimes short in the foods families choose.

Here is a quickie main dish that can easily be a favorite with your family.

Cheeseburgers

- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2-4 teaspoons salt
- 6 one-ounce slices of cheese
- 6 hamburger buns

Mix beef, onions and salt. Shape into patties. Place on a greased baking pan. Flatten with a spatula. Bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit (hot oven) for 15 minutes.

Place Patties on heated buns and top with a slice of cheese. Return to oven for 5 min. to heat. Six servings.

Here is a sauce that will add zest to your vegetable dishes.

Cheese Sauce

- 1-4 cup butter
- 1-4 cup sifted all purpose flour
- 1-2 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups hot milk
- 1 1-2 cups shredded cheese

Melt the fat; blend in the flour

Honor Paid Mrs. Felton

The members of St. Stephens Baptist church honored Mrs. I. T. Felton, in respect of her long years of service as teacher of the day School, president of the child welfare organization and a member of the National Baptist Convention.

Those participating included Mrs. Amanda Roland, directress; Mrs. Cleo Dvoyle, Mrs. B. T. Lewis and Mrs. Willy Branch, who made the presentation of the beautiful gifts.

Prisons Create Sex Problems

(The Third Of Five Articles)

By ALFRED DUCKETT

Most people realize that boys' schools, prisons, army camps, college campuses — and other institutions where men are segregated with their own sex for varying periods of time — are spots where homosexuality is bred and increased.

What many fail to realize, however, is that there are thousands and thousands of homosexuals who are not made "that way" because of their surroundings (as in such institutions) but because they were "that way" when they entered those surroundings.

There is no doubt however, that the conscious homosexual who attends a boys' training or reform school, becomes a jail inmate, member of the armed forces or college or university, will influence others who have subconscious leanings in the direction of abnormal sex or whose will power or moral qualities are susceptible to temptation aggravated by the absence of normal opportunities to satisfy the urge for female companionship.

Mr. Kinsey tells us that Army and Navy psychiatrists who dealt with the subject found that 10 percent of the men in the armed forces engaged — to varying degrees — in homosexual activity. Kinsey admits, however, that it is virtually impossible to set down authentic figures.

Although armed forces psychiatrists worked under orders to screen out of induction centers persons with abnormal sex inclinations, many homosexuals who did not want to get into uniform were equally fearful of being suspected in their communities as a result of being turned down by Selective Service. Others welcomed the opportunity to enter into a situation where they might find wider and more convenient range for their sexual urges.

Stop me if you've heard the story about the drill sergeant — counting off — one — two — three — four — who whirled on a soprano-voiced recruit with the menacing question: "Are you a one?"

"Yes, Sergeant," lisped the trembling soldier. "Are you?"

Most likely that one is a lie somebody told. No lie, however, is the story related to this writer by United States Assistant Attorney James Parsons of Chicago, who has attained an impressive record of detecting draft dodgers.

It seems that there were two young men of uncertain sex living together in cozy domesticity. The "husband" of the house was notified of induction into the Army. There was much sorrow at the thought of breaking up the happy home for two or three years — until the "couple" hit on an ingenious scheme which almost worked.

Instead of the "husband" responding to the draft call, the "wife" would submit to induction, posing as his, her or its mate. Since the "wife" was afflicted with a physical defect, she would soon be honorably discharged and then both could resume their life serenely. Amazing but true — they almost got away with it.

The "wife" masquerading as the "husband" reported for duty, went through induction procedure and was assigned to training camp. The "wife" began reporting to the post dispensary, complaining about the ailment which was serious enough to earn a medical discharge. The only thing that brought the plot to light was an examination of letters written from "wife" to "husband" telling him

Union News Co. Loses Bias Suit

NEW YORK — The Union News Co. was found guilty by a jury of violating the New York State Civil Rights law and ordered to pay two New York Central Negro employees $200 each in damages because they were refused service in the company's restaurant in the Syracuse rail terminal.

In a trial before Municipal Judge Joseph A. Boccia, the two dining car waiters, Willie Frinkle, 31, and Walter Perry, 33, alleged they were denied service on Jan. 3, 1956 at the Union News Co. restaurant in Syracuse, in violation of the state's civil rights law.

The two waiters charged that white customers and other New York Central employees were being served at the time they were refused service.

his determination not to be a part of it. But, the way he tells it, he was forced to assert himself as either a "gal-boy" or a wolf.

After being approached in a number of times by inmates who wanted to make him the object of their affections, Patterson finally found a way to repel their unwanted attentions.

"Leave off," he would tell the "wolves". I'm looking for a gal-boy myself.

His claim was merely a subterfuge to keep the "wolves" away, Patterson says, but eventually, he found the atmosphere about him and the physician's cravings inside of him pushing him into the same perverted way of life which he had once mocked.

Prison authorities welcomed homosexuality as an aid in controlling the men. Some of the guards, Patterson reported, even matched up couples.

Most of the gal-boys were teenagers. Many of them fought to keep from being forced into homosexuality. But the "wolves" had techniques which usually worked. They gave the youngsters money and bought them cigarettes, candy and other treats from the commissary.

They protected the young fellows from the tougher inmates, often fighting to do so. Then came the proposition. Sometimes the youngster gave in. Other times, he would complain to authorities. The authorities would side with the "wolves" often beating the youngster who was holding out. There were murders brought about by two wolves fighting over ownership of a gal-boy.

"After they were broken and became known as gal-boys," Patterson writes, "some carried on like real prostitutes. They sold themselves around on the week ends just like women of the streets. Some guys gave them more money than they would a real woman, maybe five or ten dollars."

"If a guy had a gal-boy but didn't get along with him any more, he could put him up for sale. He could sell him for twenty or twenty-five dollars. Once a gal-boy was sold, the husband couldn't touch him any more."

"There was always an uproar over gal-boys in prison. They sure were something... they carried on like real women and pitted the men against each other... If a boy didn't soon decide and select a husband, there would soon be a killing. Even when the boy made a choice the others would still be after him. His man was supposed to defend him, take his knife and fight for him."

Patterson writes that he once heard Deputy Warden Lige Lambert tell some state patrolmen that 50 percent of the Negro prisoners and 75 percent of the white — were gal-boys.

Patterson tells the story of the way another inmate attempted to take his (Patterson's) "wife" away. Patterson's fellow-wolf kept after Patterson's gal-boy, promising to do more than Patterson did for him.

Patterson and the other wolf — John Peasley quarreled about the gal-boy. Peasley threatening to take Patterson's companion away from him and Patterson warning that he would retaliate violently.

Feeling ran so high between the two that they made an appointment to fight out the matter.

"He (Peasley) went back into camp that night," Patterson writes, "and got himself a pair of shears somewhere. He put the shears into his pocket and went to his cell. I had a switch-blade knife. I went looking for him. I found him up there in my kid's cell. He was sitting on the bunk talking to the kid. I eased in on him with my knife cocked and up over my head. When John Peasley looked up the saw me."

"I said 'Well, John, the devil's got you now. Don't try to resist. Just take it easy and take what I'm going to give you. I'm going to put a lot of hell on you.'"

"I didn't have to use my knife. I gave him a serious whupping. I beat on him like he was a snake. I kicked him with my heavy shoes."

"Thereafter I didn't have a ny more trouble from him. He didn't try to take my gal-boy from me after that. Nobody did."

"I had taken a gal-boy, whupped a wolf and set myself up as a devil."

Gal-boys at the same prison were frequently killed for "two-timing" their men, Patterson reports. Such murders usually went unpunished.

We can't tell the incredible stories about gal-boys in prison as frankly as Patterson did. But the above will give you a pretty fair idea.

Next week, we'll discuss lesbians — the female homosexuals, the women who love other women.

Ford Dealers Set New Sales Record

SEA ISLAND, Ga. — Ford dealers broke all sales records for the October-to-January period by selling more than a half-million 1957 Fords in the first third of the model year, C. R. Beacham, Ford Division general sales manager, said this week.

According to Beacham, the October-to-January sales record breaks a previous record of 485,943 units sold during the same period of 1955-56. This record stood for 32 years, ever since 1923-24 when 484,981 sales were made.

Prof. HERMAN

THE NEED OF LOVE

Love has its own reasons; that which knows no logic, that which always does the unexpected, that which can in no way be anticipated. Man cannot be happy, indeed he cannot live without loving someone outside of himself. Nothing destroys man so completely as the incapacity to love.

Man has great needs, great because he is anything but self-sufficient. He fills his own emptiness by loving another. Besides man's need to love someone else, he needs to be loved. The person that is not loved is a hollow shell, remember this when you think of those outside of your family circle — or group.

M. L. Dear Prof. Herman: Dear Friend, I received your wonderful letter some days ago, but have been in the process of moving hence the delay in reply. Hope you didn't think I had forgotten you... would you please advise me regarding the law suit I have pending.

ANS. I feel that you may be successful in this particular case, and the settlement will be in your favor. It is always nice to hear from you, Millie.

W. U. Will we make the trip as planned?

ANS. It seems that your club has planned to take a trip to Bermuda and you are wondering if they will follow thru. It depends upon how sincere each member is, they have gone thru with the arrangements and are now waiting for the date... if you can reach a suitable time, I feel that all will try to make this wonderful trip.

WORRIED. Will my children have to move?

ANS. A careful analysis of your question reveals the fact that your son and daughter-in-law have been asked to vacate the home in which they are living. It is too bad particularly at this time, but since the owner really wishes to live there himself, there is no alternative. You might ask for a little more time, however. This may help your son to realize the importance of a lease or, in the near future trying to buy something of their own.

Y. R. Why does he fuss all of the time?

ANS. It is too bad that he doesn't have patience with you... knowing that you have had no experience in cooking and the like. But, you should either go to some night class that teaches culinary training, or some older friend that can help you with your cooking. I am sure that you realize how badly you need help in this matter. So don't delay, get started right away.

Our Opinions

Time To Stop This Foolishness

The hue and cry being raised by the Levi Civic Club concerning the proposed Negro housing and country club development in far South Memphis is another strain in oft-repeated chorus which has become tiresome to the point of foolishness.

Almost every time a suggestion is made that some needed extension in better housing for Negroes is being considered or planned, some white group proceeds to beseege the housing authorities, planning commission, and other agencies to voice objections. And these objections are hoary with time-worn arguments which have been proven time and again as false, ill-founded, and misleading.

If any extensive housing for Negroes is suggested for the heart of the city there is a cry. If the plan calls for going out on the edge of town, or outside of town there is a cry. The logical question arises, "Where is the Negro to look for better homes, better surroundings for his family, better conditions for health, and the like?" It's time to stop the foolishness.

Brotherhood Week

Brotherhood Week which is sponsored annually by the National Conference of Christians and Jews and whose observance is confined almost without exception to an inter-racial exchange of pulpits among the clergy, is without a question an appropriate reminder of the oneness of humanity and of our obligation to practice charity, understanding and mutual respect.

If brotherhood be the key to human survival as the National Conference of Christians and Jews has pontifically put it, then it is not a matter of individual option, but an inescapable obligation of all of us who wish to save ourselves from the dross of the polluted stream of negative thinking.

The church more than any other agency should take the lead in pointing out the way to the solution of a social problem that can best be resolved through its ministry. The church, first of all, is better equipped intellectually, spiritually and socially to give appropriate guidance to a form of social behavior and therapy that should hasten the termination of a dying aristocracy.

Integration is proceeding well in changing neighborhoods in New York, with increasing numbers of churches making sustained efforts to serve a bi-racial community. In some instances churches are providing facilities for persons of another race who are some distance away but have no church.

Churches termed segregated were white without Negro participation and Negro without white participation. It was noted that the main reason for segregation was geographical. However, the majority of churches classified as "segregated" would welcome others and that almost an equal number would accept persons of other races into church membership.

We must admit rather shamefully that the church has been guilty of keeping up the bugaboo of racial differences by giving way to community patterns of residential living which conflict violently with everything Christian religion stands for.

Certainly in Chicago, the program of the National Conference of Christian and Jews would reap a greater social harvest at quickened pace were it to concentrate its efforts on religious organizations and institutions of higher learning which have been riding out the storm broken loose on the issue of segregation.

Our Segregated Schools

Recent findings by special commissions in several northern metropolitan centers point up the fact that integration is a nation-wide problem, not just one that belongs south of the Mason-Dixon Line. Many responsible and responsive public school officials have re-examined their position in the light of the High Court ruling on school segregation.

The civic conscience is at work everywhere except in Chicago. New York, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and some smaller communities such as South Bend, Ind., and New Rochelle, N. Y. are considering ways and means of reducing the number of segregated classes. Though discrimination in most Northern cities is unlawful and against public interest, nevertheless there is a de facto segregation in the public schools.

This de facto form of segregation is caused by the residential pattern that makes children go to their neighborhood schools. Civic, parent and labor groups have adopted anti-segregation resolutions and have placed them before their respective school board.

One of the steps being urged is teacher assignment. Teachers should be assigned to schools without regard to the racial composition of the community or location of the schools.

Here in Chicago there should be created a central zoning unit with power to redraw school district lines. New zones would in some cases permit children who attend predominantly Negro schools to go to nearby white schools. The Board of Education would exercise its own discretion in teacher assignment.

There is no doubt that segregated housing is the real problem. But even in the existing residential pattern, steps should be taken now to keep de facto segregation down to a minimum. One of the ways of accomplishing this goal is to integrate as many schools as possible on the fringe areas by rezoning. Build new schools at such sites that both Negro and white children will attend without violating the neighborhood pattern of living.

High school students should be permitted to attend regardless of neighborhood. While these changes would not solve the troublesome problem of school segregation, they would represent a substantial advance toward the ultimate establishment of integrated living on a plane commensurate with the profession of democracy.

However, as long as there are discriminatory residential patterns, there will be corresponding segregation in the schools. This is one of the reasons why we should watch with meticulous care the proposed Hyde Park Housing redevelopment project. It has in it the seed of an evil design to postpone integration indefinitely.

Reader Asks: "What Was Saudi Arabia's Income Before U. S. Royalties In Oil?"

AN INTERESTING letter came into the house where Abraham Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation. In answer to Mr. Beauchamp's first query, the annual income of Saudi Arabia, before they struck the ocean of Black Gold beneath the Americans struck oil there, was estimated at 100,000 English pounds—$350,000 in U. S. money.

Harold Hutchinson, of the London Daily Herald, recently returned from Saudi Arabia, describes it as "A kingdom where a poverty-stricken, illiterate and diseased population ekes out the hardest and most hopeless existence in the modern world."

Today, when America's giant oil installations are bringing in millions of barrels of the precious fluid, U. S. petroleum experts estimate that one-sixth of the world's oil supply lies beneath the desert kingdom of Saudi Arabia. All this means that King Saud's annual income from royalties paid by America's oil men is world's oil supply lies beneath the fabulous sum of one million English pounds, a cool 350 million dollars in U. S. money. That, for Mr. Beauchamp's information is Saudi Arabia, before and after—oil.

As to the morals of the lower caste Arabians, they are under constant scrutiny by the vengeful minions of the law and woe betide the married man who takes unto himself a mistress. Adultery by the lower orders is punishable by public beheading and the errant love thief has his right hand chopped off and the wound cauterized in boiling pitch. Such is the 'love code' inflicted on the masses as compared with dissolute, licentious practices of the monarch and the 322 Arabian 'princes of the royal blood.'

"No Jew may be employed by the oil company or at the Air Force base. No liquor may be imported or drunk. No American may smoke in public places. No book may be imported. No American wife may drive a car. No Christian worship is allowed."

King Saud rules his country with an iron hand. He takes the royalties and despite his near-sighted vision, makes no mistake when it comes to counting the 'loot.'

PUMPKIN HEADS AND PUNKS

The great, internationally-circulated publication, Time magazine, carried an item last week entitled "Negro Crime."

The item noted that 35 per cent of the crime committed in big American cities is perpetrated by Negroes . . . although Negroes average on 11 per cent of the population of most big American cities . . . on the average.

A few days prior to the Time article, the Memphis Commercial Appeal printed some figures reputedly issued by the Memphis Police Department dealing with the subject of crime in Memphis during 1956. Big point of the figures was that some 69 per cent of the crimes committed in the "Big M" last year could be laid at the door of Negroes.

Now, like the old folk used to say, "Where there's so much smoke, there's bound to be some fires." There's more truth than propaganda in those quoted figures from both publications. And before there's a general scramble to hunt up "reasonable excuses," "plausible excuses," "good excuses," and "lying excuses," brothers and sisters of the colored persuasion would do well to face the facts of the matter . . . and start from scratch to do something about it.

And there's no point in begging the issue by pointing out that there is no similar breakdown and publication of a u c h information about Jews, Indians, Mexicans, Chinese, and other minority groups in America. There are a flock of reasons why the Negro figures were published. There are fair and unfair reasons. But whatever the reasons, the cat is out of the bag . . . and it all adds up to the painful conclusion that Sam's a pretty "Bad Boy" in spots.

Now, maybe he's bad because he's "democracy's neglected, step-child," or because, like a child brought in a home where there's been no love, the Negro's record is spotted with too much bad because he needs a little more sympathetic understanding.

But, the point here is one that's addressed to the Negro himself. It begins with the picture of the little boy who felt so mistreated around his home until he went out

Simple And The Hungarians: Be Broadminded, Please!

"I hate to say it," said Simple, "but any Hungarian refugee can come over here with transportation free, and get a good job in a bank or someplace where I can't even look behind the counter, a few weeks after he gets here. And I say it ain't, is no, and never will be right for such to happen. I'm an American."

"But," I said, "you cannot blame the Hungarian refugees for the American racial pattern, so try to be broadminded. It happens that Hungarians are white—so naturally they have a head start on you, colored."

"But I am a citizen," said Simple.

"In some ways," I said, "but not fully. If you were a full citizen, there would be no need of the NAACP running to the Supreme Court all the time to try to consolidate your citizenship. You are a COLORED citizen."

"Which means Hungarian refugees are more citizens than I am," yelled Simple. "I declare that is not right. My father was here before me, also my grandfather before him, and I do not know how much farther back than that was my people. But I do know colored folks have been in this here U.S.A. a long time. Still and yet, you mean to tell me a Hungarian what has been here a half-hour is worth more than me?"

"I am colored just like you," I said, "so why are you hollering at me? Did I create this condition?"

"You take it too calm," said Simple. "You must be an Uncle Tom."

"Do not call me out of my name," I said. "I see no use to get excited about obvious facts. Everybody knows that any white

At his press conference last week President Eisenhower gave an explanation of why he did not feel he could comply with the petition of Dr. Martin Luther King and many other leaders calling upon him to speak out against the bombings of Negroes and also visit the strife-torn areas of racial violence in the South.

He was questioned on this point by Robert G. Spivack who writes for the New York Post and the Chicago Defender. For fear that you may have missed it, I here-with reprint the answer of the President:

"Well, I think I have a pretty good and sizable agenda on my desk every day, and as you know, I insist on going for a bit of recreation every once in a while, and I do that because I think it is essential to this job."

"Now, I have just got as much as I can do for the moment, and I will say this, however, I have expressed myself on this subject so often in the South, in the North, wherever I have been, that I don't know what another speech would do about the thing right now."

The shooting and bombings in the cities of Alabama and the South, the cross burnings, violent threats and the open intimidation of Negroes have become so widespread that many leaders feel that a state of emergency may exist in the South unless some positive governmental action to curb the violence is begun. We could witness massacres in this country similar to the massacre of Jews in Germany under Hitler.

On the basis of the facts, the Negro leadership in the South and in the North believes that President Eisenhower has a serious obligation to use his good offices to stem the tidal wave of horror which has already become a national scandal. The Rev. Martin Luther King and his associates have asked the President to act, the National Newspaper Publishers Association has petitioned the President to act, and a host of national organizations including whites as well as Negroes want the President to act.

The explanation given by the President, of course, is ridiculous. How can he be too busy for this when he has plenty of time for Hungarians, Arabians, Indians, and all the Georgians who can make their way to the golf course in Augusta. As to his former expressions on the subject, I do not remember any that adequately cover the situation that exists today in the South. As a matter of fact, I cannot remember any expressions that are completely satisfactory to anyone who believes that segregation must be eliminated as quickly as possible in the South and who believes that racism is an abhorrent evil which cannot and must not be countenanced in our democratic society.

The attitude of the President as indicated in his reply to the question of Mr. Spivack is utterly disappointing to all of us. His silence is giving aid and comfort to the terrorists who are determined to nullify the decisions of the United States Supreme Court in this matter of integrated education.

Some strategists are claiming that the administration is deliberately following a no-talking, policy line in the matter of Southern violence because it feels it can get more accomplished that way. This is the view of the Republicans who feel that Ike can do no wrong. Why do we consider it so important for him to speak out?

There are many reasons, of course, but the one that strikes me as supremely important is that the President needs to give encouragement and strength to the white liberal forces in the South which are getting weaker every day. The white liberal in the South today is far more frightened than the Negro himself.

In some respects the Negroes have been oppressed so long that they do not have too much to lose in standing firm behind their militant leaders. Many white liberals, however, have achieved positions of power and security which now are seriously threatened. Without the active help of these liberals working with the Negro leadership the whole cause of integration in the South is going to be pretty hopeless. There has got to be some common ground on which the two races can meet and work together.

Today the extremists are spreading terror like the Nazis and the liberal whites hide or run. If these extremists are permitted to consolidate their gains, the South will be a bloody battleground for years to come. The President and his advisers ought to give this matter a second thought, and soon.

"THE CARD SAYS . . . YOU'RE BIG . . . STRONG . . . BRAVE . . . AN' POPULAR WITH WOMEN! IT'S GOT YOUR WEIGHT WRONG TOO."

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Federal legislation to safeguard the two "most basic" citizenship rights—the right to vote and the right to security of the person—should be passed as quickly as possible by the House of Representatives in order to allow sufficient time before Congress adjourns to break a probable Senate filibuster against such legislation.

This point of view was expressed on Feb. 6 by 22 organizations through their spokesman, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins. Mr. Wilkins testified before the sub-committee of the House Judiciary Committee, on behalf of the 22 organizations.

A bill containing the provisions recommended by Mr. Wilkins was passed in the House last year by a two-to-one bi-partisan majority. To illustrate the urgent need for federal legislation protecting voting rights and security of the person, Mr. Wilkins cited situations in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Negro Alabamians who attempt to register to vote are asked questions such as "How many persons are on the United States payroll?" and "What was the nineteenth state admitted to the Union?" he said.

The "latest effort" to prevent Negroes of Macon county, Alabama was described by the NAACP official as the refusal by state officials to appoint a full board of registrars.

The civil rights leader emphasized that although the organizations he represented urged immediate passage of H. R. 627 or a similar bill, they considered the measure a "compromise bill" which does not take into account discrimination in employment and interstate transportation, the poll tax, or "violence directed against members of the armed services."

H. R. 627, which was passed last year by the House, includes provisions to:

1—Strengthen the U. S. Justice Department and the courts to protect American citizens whose right to vote or whose personal security has been threatened or removed because of race, national origin or religious affiliation;

2—Provide a special civil rights division in the U. S. Department of Justice;

3—Establish a bi-partisan commission to investigate civil rights violations.

The House committee members were told that although the NAACP and other organizations he represented were willing to accept a "minimum" civil rights bill, it must be a "meaningful" bill.

"We favor a civil rights division in the Department of Justice, and we favor a commission on civil rights, as they were incorporated in H. R. 627 last year," Mr. Wilkins asserted. "But we regard the creation of such agencies as supplements to, not substitutes for, meaningful civil rights legislation."

The organization on whose behalf Mr. Wilkins testified, in addition to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, were: American Civil Liberties Union, American Council on Human Rights, American Ethical Union's National Committee on Public Affairs, American Jewish Congress, Americans for Democratic Action, American Veterans Committee, Friends Committee on National Legislation, Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World, and International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers AFL-CIO.

Also: Japanese-American Citizens League, Jewish Labor Committee, Jewish War Veterans of the U. S. A., National Alliance of Postal Employees, National Community Relations Advisory Council, National Council of Negro Women, Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice, United Automobile Workers of America AFL-CIO, United Hebrew Trades, Workers Defense League, and Workmens Circle.

Fayette County Attracts 2,000 To Homecoming

THE QUEEN CROWNING included the captains of the school's basketball teams. Reading from left here are: Miss Crowder High school, Randy Woods, Miss I. Poindexter and H. Wilson, Capt. Larry Neal, of the boys' team and Queen Dandridge; J. D. Brewster and Capt. Dorothy Qualls, of the girls' team; Miss Vestie Jordan and H. Webb, and Miss Ernestine Hayslett and James Coleman.

JOHN W. KOHLHEIM, (4th from left) principal of the Fayette County Training school, presents the principal of Crowder High and the coaches of the boys and girls teams during a break in the night's activities. From left are the two coaches of the Crowder teams, Principal Dobbins, of Crowder High, Prof. Kohlheim, Coach Leroy Pearson, of the Fayette boys and Coach Samuel Carpenter, of the Fayette girls.

BIG CROWDS always turn out for the Homecoming Day activities, and this year was no different. An estimated 2,000 jammed into the gymnasium to cheer the cage stars and applaud other activities. This crowd view shows how tightly the gymnasium was packed with every available seating place in use.

SQUARE DANCING was one of the night's major activities and this group of youngsters make a prime argument for the old adage, "The Show Must Go On". The two girls in the center view are dancing without male partners because their scheduled partners came down sick. Reading clockwise, the dancers are: Karen Nall and A. Armour, Peggy and Janet McFarrin, and Tyrone Carpenter and B. Morrow.

COMMANDS CRACKLED across the large auditorium as the Fayette County Training school's crack boys drill squad is put through the paces by Clyde Dickerson. The smart-stepping and unison drills of the outfit drew some of the loudest audience ovations of the night.

SPIRIT MAKERS for the boys and girls of Fayette County Training school were these 10 lively cheerleaders. They furnished the spark that kept their teams plugging away throughout the matches. They are Misses Emma Jean Hall, Larue Johnson, Velma Montague, Frances Kinsey, Mary Taylor, Katherine Pettigrew, Claressa Morris, Annie Williams, Georgia Tucker and Melroy Shorter.

SOCIETY Merry Go-Round

by MARJORIE I. ULEN

The return of 'Old Sol's' visibility after a long stretch of dreary rain-filled days was a pleasant reminder that "God's in His Heaven... and all's right with the world". We continue to hope so anyhow — knowing that some of the apparent rightness won't bear close scrutiny!

Among our social gadabouts, pulses and footsteps have quickened with the apparent end of the social stalemate, which has existed since the holidays. Milady is scanning the latest fashion bibles, planning gorgeous outfits in keeping with Spring, 1957's feminine creations.

So... climb aboard the Merry-Go-Round, and witness the evidence that the social whirl is gathering momentum.

SIGMA'S STORY

One could tell that spring is just around the corner, and definite signs of it were focused on beautifully attired members of Sigma Gamma Rho sorority Saturday, when they were beautifully entertained by their Basileus, Ritta H. Porter and co-hostesses Charles-etta Branham and Dorothy Slata.

Stopping by the meeting for a brief chat with the ladies, Atty. B. F. Jones, a Sigma husband, charmed them with his jovial manner and spontaneous sense of humor.

Spearheaded by Erie Hill Rose, chairman of "Rhomania", the sorority is planning an entertaining program around the appearance of talented and brilliant Gloria Lockerman of Baltimore, Md., who basked in fame won as a spelling champion on the $64,000 Question TV show.

Tickets may be purchased from members and the Central Ticket office at Goldsmith's for the program which will be held at C. Arthur Bruce Hall at LeMoyné college, April 26, at 8 p. m.

THE LA MAR CHERIS

Those well known La Mar Cheri members met with pert and petite Ruby Nell Brittenum for their election of new officers. Genial Elmer Henderson was host, serving the cocktails for which he is famous. The new slate consists of president, Ruby Nell Brittenum; vice president, Louise Chandler; treasurer, Carrie S. Nell; corresponding secretary, Thelma; financial secretary, Thelma Durham; business manager Frances Starks, sick committee chairman, Laura Robinson and reporter, Mable Winfrey. Other members present were Sadye Cabage, Mary Beal, and new members Leava Lewis and Naomi Go-chett.

NEWS OF ALPHA GAMMA CHI

Alpha Beta chapter of Alpha Gamma Chi sorority was the guest of silver-voiced Frankelle Wand at 519 Vance, where they had a gala time playing bridge and enjoying the tempting menu of barbecued chicken and trimming, prepared by well-known caterer, Jana Porter. On hand were Willie Monroe, Thelma Davidson, Rubie Stein Hudson, Bree Grandberry, Maggie Newsom and guests Ida Page and Tiney Chambliss.

THE CLIQUE BRIDGE CLUB

A pre-Valentine party was the social highlight of the Clique Bridge club at Orleans hotel recently, when they entertained members Birdie Lenoir, Vallie Hayes, Bree Grandberry, Maggie Newsom, Mary Turner, Ruth Porter, Sara Roberts, Celestine Lee and guests, Willie Warren, Dorothy Greene, Rubie Stein Hudson, Marguerite Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Jones, Nelson Turner, and Lynda Allen.

THE FINE ARTS CLUB

Lella Walker Club house was the setting for the beautiful reception given by the Memphis Fine Arts Club. President Mrs. Beulah Williams and officers Mrs. Bernice Thomas, Mrs. Evelyn Iles, Mrs. Etta Page and Mrs. Butler-Cole were beautifully attired to enjoy the beautiful musical that was interspersed thru out the evening. The occasion was in honor of their new members, Miss Lanetha Collins, Mrs. Gertrude Kemp, Omar Robinson, Mrs. Vivian Robinson, Charles R. Iles, sr., Mrs. Myrtle Horton, Mr. s. Cooper E. Taylor, Mrs. Gladys Brown Webb, Mrs. Mildred Hodges, Mrs. Myrtle Crawford, Miss Betty Johnson and Miss Germaine Ball.

Refreshments were served from the beautiful dining room table which was handsomely overlaid in a white lace cloth, centered with a beautiful floral centerpiece of full-bloom pink roses. Two crystal punch bowls served lime and pineapple frappe respectively, each artistically bearing a valentine heart of maraschino cherries. Tempting pastries were included in the lovely service of Mrs. U. Holmes.

Many of the new members contributed to the musicale with solos. Throughout the evening, organ melodies were furnished by Eddie Pryor, representing the Hollenberg Company. This young man is an exceptionally fine artist at both piano and organ, despite his tender years, for he is a senior at Booker T. Washington H. S. Just before the close of the reception the entire group sang their club song. Among guests present were Mrs. T. H. Watkins, Mrs. Gertrude Armstrong, Miss Jewel Gentry, Mrs. S. Miller, Mrs. V. Bennett, Miss E. L. Goldsby, Mrs. Ruth Reeves, Albert Kemp, Jeff Coleman, Mrs. Lillian Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Thompson, Mrs. Florence T. McCleaves, Mrs. Marie Adams, John Clayborn, Miss Pearl Westbrook, Mrs. A. A. Johnson, Mrs. Allura S. t a m s, Mrs. Leopold Iles, Mrs. T. H. Hayes, sr., Mrs. H. Craig, Mrs. Etta Boyd, Rev. J. Mickle and Mrs. J. W. Ester.

THE NONCHALANTS

Nonchalant Bridge club met at the Orleans hotel with Bernice McClellan as hostess. Following their business meeting, Mrs. Larnia Cain was introduced as the guest for the party. Members were happy in welcoming Elmyra Williams and Mrs. Thompson who have been ill, and had missed a few meetings. Prizes were won by Lytia McKinney, Louise Ward, Elmyra Williams and guest Mrs. Cain. Ruth McDavid will be hostess at their next meeting.

GOINGS ON ABOUT TOWN

Members of Links, Inc. and their Connecting Links (husbands) trekked to Forrest City, Ark., last Saturday night when Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Bond of Madison, Ark., and Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Burke were hosts at a lavish party at the beautiful Burke estate. Focal point of the lovely affair was the spacious upstairs recreation room momentoes of the Burkes' far-flung travels, among which are beautiful collections of ceramics, objects d'art, a wonderful collection of flags, colorful posters and reminders of their numerous trips here and abroad. The Links were beautifully attired in devastating cocktail frocks bearing fabulous labels.

Amid the festivities, conviviality and reigning joye de vie atmosphere of the evening, attending guests delighted in the offerings of the distinctive bar, bearing an unusual copper ice urn and eye-catching appointments. . . and simply couldn't resist everything on the menu of the buffet supper which included smoked turkey and ham imported from California for the occasion, lobster newberg, a Creole dip, Oriental flavored rice supreme, a beautiful red congealed salad in keeping with the Valentine celebration, and hors d'oeuvres and canapes that ran the gamut in assortment, beauty and deliciousness. The table was laid in an imported Maderia cloth edged with handmade lace, silver candleabra holding festive red tapers, and distinctively enhanced with an elaborate sterling coffee service and gold service plates.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Holis Price, Dr. and Mrs. Walter W. Gibson, Mrs. Robert Lewis, Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Speight, jr., Dr. and Mrs. Leland Atkins, rMs. Thomas Hayes, jr., (whose husband was in Chicago at the time), Mrs. Julian Kelso, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Caffrey Bartholomew, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Booth, Atty. and Mrs. H. A. Young, Mrs. C. S. Jones, Mrs. Vivian White, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Sawyer, Miss Jewel Gentry and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Young. Link Mrs. A. Maceo Walker and her husband were away in California and missed the wonderful party.

SURPRISE FOR MRS. MICKENS

Mrs. Rosa Bell Mickens was genuinely surprised at a birthday party honoring her natal day, Valentine Day, last Friday, given by her daughter, Mrs. Alberta Mickens at their residence at 572 Alston ave. On the pretext that Alberta was preparing for a club party, Mrs. Mickens innocently allowed herself to be lured into going to the show — a thing she cares little about — when friends Mrs. Clara Parks and Mrs. Jimmie Mitchell suggested that she get away from the hustle and bustle taking place at home, where she really was not needed. On returning home, she was greeted with traditional "Happy Birthday To You" by scores of her friends and co-workers. Daughter Alberta pinned a gorgeous orchid on her shoulder, and when she had finally regained her composure, enjoyed the delightful cocktail party, lovely buffet supper and beautiful heart-shaped birthday cake inscribed befittingly for the occasion.

Enjoying it all were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dancy, Mr. and Mrs. William Stanback, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Westbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Artison, Mrs. Nellie Humes, Prof. and Mrs. S. M. Smith, Theodore Spencer, Mrs. Ida Mae Smith, Mr. and Mrs.

RECEPTION HONORS WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Dowdy who were married Dec. 25, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Magie Lee Reid, of 2570 Supreme ave., are seen at the recent wedding reception given in their honor. Mr. Dowdy is the son of Mrs. Hannah Huat, of 1774 Marble ave. The couple now reside in Chicago, Ill.

Ball Saturday night when Beta Xi Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a fraternity at LeMoyné college, entertained with its annual Sweetheart's Ball at Currie's Club Tropicana. With her is Miss Mary Roberts Cole, of 868 Porter, who was recently crowned "Sweetheart" of the fraternity. The LeMoyné coeds are seen just before the Alpha men serenaded them during brief intermission-time program.

Sigma's Rhomania Books Famed Gloria Lockerman

According to reports from the general chairman, Mrs. Erie Rose, plans for Rhomania are taking shape. The theme for Rhomania this year will be "Children 'Round The World'". Talent will be presented from the various schools in the community with the guest artist, Gloria Lockerman, playing an important role during the program. Gloria is known internationally to both adults and young people as the spelling champion on the $64,000 Question television program.

This program will not only give an opportunity to see this talented youngster but it will give each person an opportunity to share in sending some worthy young person to college next fall, the latter being the main purpose of the project.

The date is Friday, April 26. Spacious Bruce hall, on LeMoyné college campus, will be the setting for the event, slated 8 p. m. Mrs. Annie Jean Goodloe and Miss Etha Wiggins are serving as co-chairmen for Rhomania. Ticket chairman is Mrs. M. a r y Brooks. Tickets will be on sale at LeMoyné college business office, Goldsmith's and from any member of the sorority. M r s. Katherine Jones, chairman of publicity.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

PET MILK HOME ECONOMIST

If you've always thought it was hard to make a perfect cream pie, I've got wonderful news for you... they're easy as can be when you use Pet Evaporated Milk and Pet Milk recipes! The delicious BANANA CREAM PIE I want to tell you about today, for instance is smoother — and richer — than you could ever make with any other form of milk. Yet the recipe is unusually easy, because it calls for packaged vanilla pudding powder and just a few other simple ingredients. The big secret, you see, is the Pet Milk you use. Pet Milk is double-rich, actually a little more than twice as rich as ordinary milk. So, even when you combine Pet Milk with water, as you do in this recipe, it's still richer than ordinary milk.

Of course, there's no need to tell you how important richness is in ANY cream pie... and this Banana Cream Pie is a wonderful way to discover for yourself now how much better your cream pie will be when you make them with Pet Milk. A wonderful surprise for your family, too! Be sure to try this recipe soon... I know you'll love it!

1 package vanilla pudding powder
2 unbeat egg yolks
1 cup Pet Evaporated Milk
3-4 cup water
1 ripe banana

BANANA CREAM PIE

Mix pudding powder and egg yolks in a 1½qt. saucepan. Stir in gradually a mixture of the milk and water. Cook and stir until mixture comes to a full, all-over boil and is thick, about five minutes. Remove from heat. Cover and cool slightly, about five minutes. Pour half of the pudding into a cooled, 8-inch baked pastry shell. Slice the banana over the top, then cover with rest of the pudding. Beat egg whites until stiff, then beat in the sugar gradually. Put on top of pie, spreading to edges of crust to seal in the filling. Bake on rack slightly above center in 325 oven (low moderate) about 15 minutes or until meringue is light brown. Cool thoroughly.

THE JACKSON SCENE

By Mrs. Anna Lee Cooke

At the peak of the Seventy-fifth Anniversary celebration at Lane college one of the most cultural programs to be staged in Jackson was presented to the public on last Thursday evening in the Lane College Health Building. It was the presentation of Marian Anderson who has been called one of the world's most popular concert singers. As Arthur Tascanini has said "A voice like hers comes once in a century" and I well agree, along with many others who have lived longer than I. The building was filled to its capacity with a most attentive audience who seemed spell bound as Miss Anderson rendered her numbers with the greatest of ease. She was all too gracious in coming back for encores on three occasions.

Her accompanist, Frank Rupp, was excellent also at the piano.

Immediately following the recital in the same building, the reception was held and the many persons who had heard her sing got a chance to shake her hand. It was wonderful indeed to be able to chat with such a distinguished artist.

There were many people from surrounding communities in Jackson to hear the great artist and from cities as far as Chicago. Just to cite a few — Miss Annie M. Allen from Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. C. A. Kirkendoll, sr., from Kansas City, Atty. Miles Stevens from Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Richard Roebuck of Chicago, Ill.

A great artist is born and we are very appreciative in Jackson that Lane college gave us an opportunity to hear her.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN

Visiting in Jackson with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Forte on Mobile ave., is Mrs. Mildred Forte Houlton of Chicago, Ill. With her are her adorable little twin girls who are four years of age.

Mrs. Essie M. Perry who is alumni secretary of the United Negro College Fund had just returned from a meeting held at Wiley college in Marshall, Texas. All of Jackson was saddened by the death of Mr. Will Murrell. He and his wife would have celebrated their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary in April. In addition to his wife he leaves two sons, Clyde and Holland of Chicago, Ill. and one daughter, Elizabeth who is affectionately known to Jacksonians as Sis. He also leaves three grandchildren, five great grandchildren, a son-in-law in Jackson, M. Pate, and many other relatives and friends.

Mr. Murrell was a communicant of St. Joseph's Catholic Church where the funeral Mass was held on Feb. 2.

Under the direction of the Social Studies teachers at Merry High school, students from these classes presented a program on February 12 in observance of Negro History Week. Rev. W. G. Terry, pastor of First Baptist church and noted for his speaking ability, was guest on the program.

The Parent-Teacher Association at Merry High school wishes to invite you to the Coffee Sip which will be held March 4 at 8 p.m. at the school. This will be in interest of the band drive and members will be happy to collect pledges at this time.

NEWS IN SPORTS

It appears that West High had it in for dear Merry when they met on the West High Court last Tuesday night. Two exciting games were won by the West High teams. The Merry girls lost to West by a score of 37 to 29 and the boys by only one point. The boy's game was an exceptional tight one with Merry boys leading with only a few seconds left to play and the basket made by West High put them in the lead by a score of 45 to 44.

At Lane college on the same night the final game of the season was played when Lane met Fisk in a game equally as exciting. There were several tie-up points with both teams getting the lead all through the game and when the final whistle was blown; it was a sigh of relief to the fans. Lane came out victorious by a score of 54 to 53. Lane closes the season with a 16 to 4 record on the winning side. The tournament is scheduled for Feb. 21 through 23 at Tuskegee Institute, Ala.

FOCUSING THE NEWS

By C. J. GASTON

One of the weights that is besetting the progress of our race is that of idleness. It has been well said, "an idle brain is the devil's workshop." Productive activity has lost its appeal to many of our people and in many instances when they could be working they are idle.

These idlers spend their time in public places discussing past and present events that mean very little to their welfare. Often these discussions lead to heated arguments and loss of friendship.

Idleness is not confined to any particular group of our people but in too many cases it starts at the top and filters down to the bottom. Too many of our leaders spend their time in idleness when they could be looking after the welfare of their people. Too many of our young people are depending upon their parents and relatives for a livelihood when they should be taking care of themselves.

Many of our women who do not have to work spend most of their time in nasty gossip on the telephone or at another gossipier's home. Sometimes they are so busy gossiping that they forget or neglect their home duties. Yes, my friends, idleness is a two ton weight that is retarding the progress of our race.

Between 1930 and 1940 the Pacific coast states showed an 18.8 percent population gain while the north west central states in the same period increased by only 1.7 percent.

Phelix High Marks Annual Homecoming

By ROBERT OWENS

The Phelix High school Tigers and Tigerettes played their annual Homecoming game against the Tate High school Tigers and Tigerettes Tuesday night Feb. 6, in the school gym.

The first game started about 7:30 p.m. featuring the junior boys with Phelix defeating Tate 34-2.

The senior girls played the second game and won by the score of 10-3.

The third and final game between the senior boys was quite upsetting because the scores were tied in the first half 24-24. In the second half the Phelix Tigers came back with a bang and the final score was 61-39.

QUEEN CROWNED

The attraction following the junior boys game was the crowning of the queen (elementary and high school) and the presentation of their court. The high school queen was Miss Annie Jean Mabry of the junior class, and Miss Mattie Wade of the sixth grade represented the elementary department.

An attraction of the evening was the superb performance of the drum corps and the comely majorettes of Phelix High, between halves of senior boys game.

A portable radio was raffled off by the NFA chapter and the winner was Willie Davis, of Jericho.

Orioles Farm System Has 21 Tan Players

BALTIMORE — Twenty-one tan players have been signed to contracts with teams in the Baltimore Orioles farm system.

One of the outstanding prospects is Fred Valentine, young infielder who was signed off the campus of Tennessee State A & I university last summer. Some experts predicted that Valentine has the potential of a Willie Mays or a Hank Aaron.

Valentine is one of seven tan members on the roster of the Vancouver (B. C.) team of the Pacific Coast. Others include Willie Tasby, Jr., Charles W. Drummond, Leonard C. Green, Roosevelt Evans, Jr., David Roberts and Bill Springfield.

Assigned to the Birds' Texas league affiliate, San Antonio are Art Kay, Kelly Searcy and Marvin Price.

On the Knoxville (South Atlantic league) roster are Elliott Coleman, Wayne Coleman and Peaster Mumphrey.

Those who will start the season with Phoenix (Ariz.) are Charles Hinton, Raymond K. Robinson and Bob Steele.

Signed to contracts with Aberdeen (S. D.) are Charles Howard, William B. Leach and Bob Palmore.

Two more are on the roster of Paris (Texas) of the Big State league. They are Don Luke and Horace Davis.

New Hurdles Mark Set By Campbell

NEW YORK — (ANP)—Slender Arnie Sowell, who bowed to Tom Courtney in the 800 meters in the Olympic games, reasserted his supremacy on the boards Saturday night, shattering world indoor record for both the half mile and the 800 meters.

The king of middle distance indoor runners won his 15 consecutive indoor race in three years and beat Courtney for the eighth straight time before a sellout standing-room-only 16,000 in Madison Square Garden in the Mile-roose AA's golden jubilee meet.

BREAKS BORICAN'S MARK

Sowell, a University of Pittsburgh grad, stepped the 800 in 1:50.3, breaking the 15-year-old indoor mark of 1:50.5 set by the late John Borican. At 800 meters, Sowell 1:49.7 broke Borican's mark of 1:50. His times also cracked Mal Whitfield's Garden marks of 1:50.1 and 1:50.9.

Beaten at Melbourne by the powerful running Courtney who moved up on the back stretch, Sowell Saturday night moved from first to third after three laps, and never let Courtney catch him. Harry Bright of the Pioneer Club, who set the pace, finished third.

Panthers Beat Tennessee In Cage Upset

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The Philander Smith college gymnasium became the scene of one of the biggest upsets of the current basketball season when the Philander Smith Panthers, composed primarily of freshmen, downed Tennessee A & I State Tigers by a score of 88-88 on Thursday night, Feb. 21.

At half time the Panthers led by 43-37. With only two seconds of game time remaining with an 88-88 tie, the officials called a technical foul on A & I and Fred Harris, 6-3 Panther sophomore from Baton Rouge, sank a free throw to cinch the victory for Philander.

Hubert ("Goose") Ausbie, 6-foot-4 freshman from Crescent, Okla., was high with 34 points for Philander, followed by John Barnhill with 26 for the Tigers.

Knoxville Defeats Allen U, 122 To 104

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Knoxville college returned home this week to defeat Allen university 122-104, after failing twice in a row on the road. Charles Frazier, guard, led the Bulldogs to victory with 30 points.

Jackie Fitzpatrick, all SIAC center, who has stacked up 642 points this season, led Allen to Knoxville held Allen 58-53 at half time. Richard Byrd, forward, was high man for Allen with 28.

2 Tilts Won By Central Behind Blye

WILBERFORCE, Ohio — The Central State college Marauders won victories nine and 10 by defeating Lincoln university, 83-70 and Capital university, 73-65.

Coach Gibbs is smiling with the beginning of the second semester since he picked up added strength in freshman Sylvester Blye, and sophomore William Hill.

The Marauders were out in front of the Lincoln Tigers all the way and were never in any serious trouble. Blye lead the Central State attack with 19 points and George Pruitt paced Lincoln with 23 points.

Central State and Capital battled on almost even terms for 44 minutes of the contest, with the lead changing hands 16 times. In the closing minutes the Marauders pulled out in front by seven points and went on to victory.

Central State held a one point lead 34-33 at the half. Central State's William Fox capped the scoring with 12 field goals and four free throws for a total of 30 points.

Dodgers Sign Promising Tan Player For Trial With Cedar Rapids Team

BROOKLYN — The Brooklyn Dodgers front office has announced the signing of a Negro youth who created a sensation playing baseball in the service, and whose backers predict may succeed to the second base job vacated by Jackie Robinson.

He is Phil Strothers of East Orange, N. J., a second baseman, whom the Dodgers say will be farmed out to the Cedar Rapids, Iowa team, a Brooklyn affiliate. However, Strothers supporters say that the young star will so impress Walt Alston, Brooklyn manager, when he reports to the Dodgers training camp at Vero Beach during the spring, that Walt is likely to keep him as a replacement for Jackie.

A handsome, clean shaven youth, Strothers is a product of South Side High school in Newark. There he starred as a second baseman for three years, winning berths on the All-City, All-City, All-County and third All-state teams. Following graduation from South High, Strothers attended Howard university before being called into military service. While at Howard, he created a sensation in football by making the All-CIAA team while still a freshman. He also played baseball.

His baseball talent really blossomed while he was in service. Stationed at Fort Rucker, he played football and basketball, in addition to baseball. On the baseball team, he was the second highest batter on the team, posting a season mark of .365, including three grand slam homers out of a total of nine. He did this despite the fact that he was a leadoff man in the batting order. He also had the most bases on balls and led in stolen bases. Strothers is the son of Gibbon "Chick" Strothers, veteran employee of the Internal Revenue Department.

Paul Quinn Has Eyes On SCAC Flag

WACO, Texas — The rampaging Paul Quinn Tigers ran their victory string to nine straight with an 80-58 romp over Philander Smith here on Feb. 11. It was the Tigers' seventh victory in South Central Athletic conference competition and left Paul Quinn two triumphs shy of the Conference title. They boast a 12-6 season.

Quinn started slowly and held a slender 30-28 lead at half-time. But the well-balanced Tigers got hot in the second half, and wound up with four men in double figures. Arthur Smith led the scoring with 26. Bobby Kirkendall 21, while Robert Mitchell and Floyd White scored 12 each. The only threat of the remaining two Conference games is Mississippi Vocational college of Itta Bena, Miss. They have, like the Tigers, lost only one Conference decision, and that one to the Tigers. MVC is a power team and defending SCAC champs.

Alcorn Students To Honor President

LORMAN, Miss. — An inspired student body of Alcorn A. & M. college, has formulated plans for a celebration in honor of their president, Dr. J. R. Otis, on March 2. The celebration is to be a token of appreciation for his outstanding achievements and contributions to the college and the cause of higher education in Mississippi.

Famu Advances On 103-83 Win

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida A & M university cagers moved into second place in the heated SIAC visitation basketball race by downing the Alabama State five 103 to 83 here last Wednesday night.

A standing room only crowd gathered in the A and M gym to see the local five score 62 points in the second half to hand Alabama its third conference defeat this season. The visitors led the local quintet 11 to 11 at the half.

Leo Morgan hit 30 of his night's total of 39 points in the second half to set the torrid pace displayed by the Ed Oglesby quintet. Morgan was the top man on the floor on both offense and defense. With only 12 minutes remaining to be played in the game, the score was tied 64 to 64 for the first time since Willie Sides sent Alabama State out front 2 to 0 in the first four seconds of the game. It was Morgan who pushed in a field goal from close range and dumped two charity tosses to give A and M a 66 to 64 lead.

Jimmy Dew, Hugh Martin, John Quates, and Sides had paced the visiting netters during the first half and they continued to find their range, but the pace set by Morgan was too much for them.

The game featured the clever ball handling and backboard manning of the Hornets during the first half and the fast breakups and close up shooting of Florida A and M. All of the field goals made by Alabama State during the first half were from the floor. Sides three in seven field goals in the first half.

Carl Evans, Leon Collier, Leroy Gibson and Roy Young aided Morgan in increasing the A and M lead over the Alabamians. Florida A and M now has season record of 19 to 4. They defeated the Benedict Tigers 87 to 60 here Monday night.

Chicago Relays

The top indoor meet of the nation — the Chicago Relays at the Chicago Stadium on Saturday night, March 16 — is the "track meet of the champions. Remember Ed Dugger of Tufts college and Harrison Dillard, Baldwin Wallace college and Olympic champion of 1952, two great hurdlers? Both were top performers in previous Chicago relays of a few years back.

And sprinters like Barney Ewell of Penn State, Buddy Young of Illinois? The late John Borican, Herb McKinley and Jimmy Herbert? John, wearing Virginia State's jersey and one of the greatest middle distance runners of his time, was a student in Columbia university's school of art. Herb, who won the 100-yard run of Illinois and Jimmy represented New York university and later the Grand Street Boys' club of New York. McKinley and Herbert will long be remembered. Borican died before he gained his life's ambition — to win the Banker's mile — always down as the top event of the relays.

And let us not forget other Negro stars — Mel Walker of Ohio State and his team mate Dave Albritton of the same team, high jumpers deluxe and Taylor of Western Michigan and others too many to mention here.

This year again finds a crop of topnotchers who are entered in the March 16 event. But we can't remember a year, as we hark back, that so many record breakers will invade the Windy City.

Olympian Ira Muchinson, a former Wendell Phillips high school sprinter and a Chicagoan, is entered in the sprint event. Ira equaled the world indoor record of 6.1 seconds in the golden anniversary of the Millrose meet in Madison Square Garden, New York City, on Feb. 9. He triumphed over Dave Sime of North Carolina in the Washington Star's meet.

And the Dixie runner's followers, let out a howl but photographs show Ira's foot across the finish line ahead of Sime's.

Olympian Milt Campbell of Plainfield, N. J., and the University of Indiana but now attached to the U. S. Navy's recruiting center in New York City, will be going after a new world record in the 60-yard high hurdles when he faces the starter in the 21st annual Chicago relays. In the Millrose games, Milt did a 7 seconds flat in the semifinal which bettered the world indoor mark of 7.1 established by Harrison Dillard in the Chicago relays on March 20, 1948 and equaled by this same Dillard in the Chicago relays of so March 26, 1955. Since the AAU does not recognize world marks or time, Campbell will be out to set a new record come March 16.

We might mention that Campbell also is a great football player and has been drafted by the Cleveland Browns but his present intention is to return to the University of Indiana and complete his college education. The big 6-foot, 3-inch hurdler is 1956 Olympic decathlon champion setting a new record. In 1952, he was second in the Olympic decathlon.

Olympian Arnie Sowell, 5-foot, 10-inch University of Pittsburgh 135-pound middle distance runner and also a member of the 1956 U. S. Olympic team, will go after a world record in the Harry Gill 1,000-yard run. Sowell had the kick to win the Millrose 850 beating his arch rival, Tom Courtney of Fordham and now in the navy, for the eighth straight indoor meet and setting a new time (world's) of 1:50.3 which knocked 2-10s of a second off of Borican's record established in 1942.

Sowell has done a 1-48 for the fastest indoor half-mile time but it didn't go into the record books because relay records do not count. Last year, in the Chicago relays, Sowell, running anchor for the University of Pittsburgh's two-mile quartet, took the baton 70 yards behind.

The crowd of 15,633 will never forget that masterful feat turned in by the skinny-legged Pitt anchor man. Off to a flying start was Bob Pugsley of the University of Syracuse but Arnie gritted his teeth and took after Bob. He closed the gap to 30 yards — then 30 and then 10. The crowd stood up cheering his efforts but doubting that he could hold out at the terrific speed he was using. He beat Pugsley to the tape winning the event as the packed house roared with applause.

Now, Courtney beat Sowell in the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne. Courtney did a 2:09.4 in the Hill 1,000-yard Daily News Chicago relays in 1956. Sowell will try to kick that record out of the books on March 16. Can he do it? He has! He did a 2:08.2 in the National AAU indoor meet two years ago and in 1956 he did 2:08.4 to keep the title.

The Hill 1,000-yard run is worth going miles to see. Courtney hasn't beaten Sowell indoors since 1955 in Washington.

There will be many other top performers invited to the Chicago relays and it won't be surprising if many records both the relay and world marks go to the way-side.

Meet Of Champs Starts Feb. 25

Entries from the first four out of town centers to complete their Golden Gloves tournaments reveal a total of seven boxers who have had previous experience in the annual Tournament of Champions. This meet, sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will be conducted in Chicago stadium Feb. 25, 26 and 27. It is the 30th annual tournament. The Golden Gloves Finals scheduled for March 6, also will be held at the Stadium.

Reresenting Station WAPX of Montgomery, Ala., will be Richard Franklin in the 118 pound division for the second straight year. Brown McGhee, Montgomery's 126 pound entry represented St. Louis in last year's meet. That old perennial Ray Spivey will once again represent Streat or Times Press in the 160 pound class. This will mark Ray's fourth appearance in the Stadium.

Station KGFL of Roswell, New Mexico, has two boxers returning for another attempt at a Golden Gloves diamond ring. They are Salvadore Valles in the 147 pound division and Herman McNeil in the heavyweight class.

Memphis' Commercial Appeal

also will be represented with two outstanding amateurs in Ward Sullivan in the middleweight class and Billy Ray Smith in the heavyweight bracket.

Chicago's own tournament, which ended Tuesday evening, has three remaining boxers who have an opportunity to return to the Stadium in the same weight classes as last year. They are Ronald Jones, 118 pounds; Fred Morish, 126 pounds, and Ernest Terrell in the light heavyweight division.

Terrell was a member of the 1956 Intercity team and scored a one round knockout over his Irish opponent in the International matches last May.

Lewis To Speak For Teenagers

Ray O. Lewis, employment and guidance specialist of the Chicago Urban League, will be the guest speaker at a teen-age forum of the Hall Branch library on Wednesday, Feb. 27, at 7:30 p.m. High school students and other interested young people will hear Lewis talk on "New Horizons in Job Opportunities".

'Curses' Women In Miss., Shot 3 Times

Liquor Dealer Admits Shooting

JACKSON, Miss. — (ANP)—A Negro identified as Ocellyde Moore was taken to Baptist hospital for treatment of three bullet wounds in his stomach, admittedly fired by G. W. (Big Red) Hydrick, Rankin county liquor dealer, who said he heard Moore curse some white women as they passed his wrecked auto in East Jackson.

Hydrick told police he saw two Negroes driving zig-zag across the road while passing his liquor store. He jumped into his car and followed and saw them side-swipe a bridge and overturn down an embankment. The men scrambled from the overturned car and began cursing a group of white women who had stopped to help them Hydrick said.

An altercation ensued, during which Hydrick said Moore struck him with his fist. Then, said the liquor dealer: "I pulled my .38 automatic and shot him three times." Moore's companion was also arrested by Rankin county police.

The Merry High school faculty, under the guidance of R. E. Ray, Supt. of Jackson City schools, has begun a study of the Cooperative Study of Secondary-School Standards. Their purposes are to determine the characteristics of a good secondary school, to review the purposes of Merry High, to determine ways and means by which the school can develop into a better school, and to make application for membership in the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

Survey blanks will be sent to the parents to get information. A continued program of standardized tests will serve as a basis for the part of the information needed concerning pupils' needs and interests.

Lane college topped Mississippi college 53-52 in an important game for the Dragons Friday night. Walter Bond topped all scores for the Lane team with 14 counters. Ken Wansley netted 14 for the Mississippi team. The contest close all the way with the leading hands many times. Neither team could gain enough of a lead to a comfortable lead.

We had excellent services at Berean Sunday. The pastor, Rev. A. L. Campbell preached a dynamic sermon from the subject: "People who have no dealings."

The second session of the 75th anniversary symposium in the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Lane college convened Tuesday.

The main address was delivered by Bishop Julian Smith and Rev. E. C. Calhoun. Bishop Smith is the presiding bishop of the eighth Episcopal District of the CME church. He is a graduate of Howard university and of Garrett Theological Seminary of Evanston, Ill.

He spoke on the subject: "The Relation of The Church College to National Problems." The Rev. E. C. Calhoun is serving his first year as president of Paine college of Augusta, Ga. He also spoke on the subject: "The Relation of the Church College to International Problems."

In the evening session Bishop H. P. Porter, of the Second Episcopal District, spoke on "The Responsibility of the Church College in Developing Church National and World Leaders." He is a graduate of Texas college in Tyler, Texas.

Bishop J. Claude Allen, prelate of the Ninth Episcopal District, which is comprised of Florida, South Carolina and East Tennessee, delivered the opening sermon. He is a resident of Gary, Ind., and received his education at Miles college, Birmingham, Ala., and at Talladega college, Talladega, Ala.

Funeral services for John Robert (Coon) Crawford, who died at his home near Cerro Cordero Community were held Sunday afternoon at Cerro Gordo Baptist church. The Revs. F. D. Freeman, and William Monroe officiating. He leaves his widow, mother and a father, two daughters, one son-in-law, two brothers, four aunts and one uncle.

Mr. Robert Yarbrough and his two sons, James and Phillip, formerly of here who now reside in Chicago, were the week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Agnew.

Mrs. Mary Morris spent several days in Evanston, Ill., who with her brother, Rev. R. Clingman, during the illness of his wife, Mrs. Naomi Clingman who has undergone a serious operation. She is reported doing well.

The club of The Church of God in Christ met in the home of Mrs. Mamie Brown.

MANNING, S. C. — A South Carolina colored farmer who believes in experimenting with his crops has become a champion cotton and hog grower of his county, reports E. N. Williams, state supervisor of Negro agricultural extension work.

The farmer is Henry Blanding of Manning, S. C., who started out as a tenant with only an ox and a pig 27 years ago. But he liked trying out new ways of doing things, says Williams.

First, he and Mrs. Blanding beat all of their neighbors to market with tomatoes by planting earlier and by making a large hotbed into which the young tomato plants could be transplanted and given a head start weeks before the usual time for setting them out in the field.

Returns from their tomatoes and from the sale of pigs from their original gift enabled them to buy a pair of mules after three years and retire their ox from pulling the plow. Later, they bought 106 acres and a tractor.

With a farm of his own Mr. Blanding began more experimentation, the extension service supervisor points out. Years before most farmers ever heard of subsoiling, he began plowing deep in early December when most of his neighbors were out hunting.

This method of plowing enables him to penetrate any possible hardpan layer within 15 inches below the surface, and permit more water from winter rain and snow to be stored up for the crops, and it also helped prevent water from standing in the field, Williams explains.

As a result, the Blandings' cotton yield increased sharply. And even during the past few years when dry weather drastically reduced yields in the area, they have harvested nearly as much cotton, corn, peanuts and tobacco as usual.

In the state's annual five-acre cotton contest, the Blandings have won top county and district awards. One year they produced 5,500 pounds of lint cotton on their contest-plot.

White and colored farmers from miles around visit them to get pointers on how they make such good crops. "More moisture and plant food," Blanding advises. "In addition to breaking the ground deep, we apply fertilizer at the rate of up to 1,200 pounds per acre," he points out.

In describing his plowing method, Blanding makes it clear that he plows deep only once a year. After that he barely scratches the surface, plowing his cotton and other crops just deep enough to get any weeds his hogs might miss.

And turning hogs in on the cotton and letting them graze the weeds and grass is another of his experiments. It has worked, he says, cutting the chopping time about in half.

Still another experiment that some of his neighbors have been trying is the method he uses to get his nine children to work long and hard at growing cotton. Years ago, when his first child was old enough to help in the field, Mr. and Mrs. Blanding gave him an acre all his own with the understanding that the earnings from the cotton would go into his own account at the bank toward his education.

The same plan has been worked out with all the other children. And there is never any trouble getting them to plow and chop and pick. Up to now, three have finished college, and most of the others are on their way.

At present, Blanding is experimenting with feeds for beef cattle and for the 175 to 200 hogs he raises for market every year. "I mix my own supplement out of corn, peanuts, soybeans, velvet beans, and fish meal. I am trying various combinations, trying to find out which is best for hogs and which is best for growing pigs," says Blanding.

Within a few years, Blanding plans to devote his full time to livestock, while one of his sons takes over the cotton and tobacco and other field crops.

Manufacturers Ask Cut In U. S. Budget

A reduction of $8.2 billion — half of it in civilian expenditures — in the Eisenhower administration's proposed 1958 budget has been recommended by the National Association of Manufacturers.

The NAM, in a statement released through its Chicago office, said that this cut, which amounts to 11 per cent of the total budget estimate is necessary because of the inflation potential and the jeopardy to continued economic growth contained in the original $71.8 billion proposal.

BIG BOUTS AHEAD — These four Memphis boxers have been going through strenuous workouts under Coach Rye Ridblatt, kneeling left, getting ready for the Golden Gloves matches that open in Chicago on Monday, Feb. 23. Though Memphisians, the four will represent Alabama where they won the state and Southern crowns in recent bouts. In the Montgomery bouts Coach Ridblatt's boys took 14 points for first place position against five points for the second running team. Boxer seated on stool is James Webb, a welter weight. Standing, from left, are: Gerald Moore, flyweight; Brown McGhee, feather weight, and Aaron Hackett, light weight. Hackett and McGhee have fought in Chicago before. All four have fought and won in the annual Tri-State Amateur Boxing tournament. Any of the four who get through the eliminations of the bouts starting on Feb. 25 will make the finals, will be seen nationally on TV on March 6. (Newson Photo)

RIPLEY LAUDERDALE County NEWS

The members of the New Home Makers of America, of Lauderdale High school met with other New Homemakers at Melrose High school in our second district meeting.

There were 24 of the members present from our chapter. This was some of the members' first time and they enjoyed the activities of the meeting very much. We are very happy and feel highly honored to have the president of this organization from our chapter, Wanda J. Brent, who is classified as a junior and the past president of our chapter was honored with this position. She is a very progressive person, and we are behind her 100 per cent. We also wish to thank all voting delegates for voting in her favor.

Cora Fields participated in the forum on "Requirements of Earning A Degree". The new president was presented in chapel by Geraldine Lewis, talk was made by our adviser, Mrs. Earlene Halliburton. "The New Challenge in the New Home Makers Organization" was her topic. She stated that progress is like a tree; its roots reach for a deeper knowledge, its branches reach out to help others, and like a tree its height denotes progress.

We as members of this fine organization must search for more knowledge, reach out to help others, then we progress.

This was a great challenge to us. Then our principal Mr. J. C. Brent told us in a few words that "until one does more than our parents did we have not done anything."

Cora Fields our song leader gave us some relaxes that she picked up at the meeting, which were enjoyed by all.

The members of the Business Education Department presented Miss Brent, a gift for her achievement in the organization. Their advisers are Mrs. Magnolia Johnson and Mrs. Bertha Pierce. G. O. Nelson, our county supervisor was present.

We would like to express our appreciation to our principal, Mr. Brent for his fine cooperation in fostering a better relationship in our organization. Also to Mrs. Linnie Robinson for playing for us. Our thanks to the advisor and

THRIFTY DOERS CLUB
The members of the Thrifty Doers club met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Marnie Winston for a period of Valentine relation. The members enjoyed games, television and gay laughter to break the monotony of the week. The refreshments were served buffet style, which gave everyone a feeling of ease.

Valentine cards were exchanged among the members and their expressions were very unique. The appetizers were prepared by Mrs. Blanch Halfoera, Nannie Sullivan and Marnie Winston, which included shrimp cocktails, blue cheese crackers, relish dish, cream cheese dip, nuts, strawberry ice cream and cake. A very delicious punch was served.

Other members present were Miss P. F. Thompson, Mrs. G. O. Nelson, Mrs. Linnie Robinson and Mrs. Earlene Halliburton.

The Missionary Society of the Chapel Hill Baptist church held its rather late election of the year of 1957, Wednesday, Feb. 6.

The officers are as follows: Mrs. Sarah Turner, president; Mrs. Lela Mae Welch, vice president; Mrs. Jessie Johnson, second vice president; Mrs. Lela Mae Reed, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, assistant secretary; Mrs. Louise Barnett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jessie Mae Wells, secretary of literature; Mrs. Mae Vies Hall, treasurer; Executive Committee — Mrs. Katie L. Estes, Mrs. Minnie Baltimore, Mrs. Jessie Johnson, Mrs. Corine Miller and Mrs. Warlene Taylor. Their guest was Mrs. Faye Carlton of Fort Smith, Ark.

The pulpit guests during regular worship were: Rev. C. W. Watkins, Rev. J. S. Reddick and Rev. Jeffries. The pastor, Rev. L. T. Shepherd delivered a very soul-stirring message from St. Matt. 11:28-30. The chorus so beautifully sang "In the End" after which Rev. Jeffries played a fervent prayer.

During the afternoon the directors of the Baptist Training Union held its election. The newly elected officers are: Mrs. Louise Miller, assistant director; Miss Rosa V. Turner, secretary; Miss Sarah Ann Miller, assistant secretary; Mrs. Floyd Hall, treasurer; Mrs. Sarah Turner, Bible Readers' Leader.

After the election the directress presented to Bible Readers' Leader, Mrs. Sarah Turner, who in turn introduced a program to the union. The program consisted of the Bible Drill with 18 persons participating. The words they were to carry were: "In the Oh Lord, Do I put my trust."

The drill was carried out with all persons receiving the correct

LeMoyné College NEWS

+ By +
Benjamin J. Poindexter

The attention of LeMoyné's student body is now seemingly focused on the activities of its Frats and sororities. In an attempt to satisfy the curiosities of the students, Miss Annie B. Price motivated a group known as the FIGLOAC or the "FRESHMAN'S INVESTIGATION OF GREEK LETTER ORGANIZATIONS COMMITTEE."

To secure the results of the information gathered by this group, watch this column for weekly data concerning the frats and sororities on campus. The series will begin on next Thursday.

RED LETTER DAYS AHEAD

LeMoyné's Drama Group, under the leadership of Miss Van Ness, seemingly has a full schedule ahead. It reads:

March 26, the play, "SILVER CORD," in C. A. Bruce hall. Also in March the group is expecting to travel to Parkers, Ark. to render several of their recent performances for an awaiting audience. April 12, they act in Bruce Hall again presenting, "THE KINDLED FLAME." In May they are to present "MURDER FOR THE BRIDE." Be on the lookout for these red letter days and plan to attend the festivities.

HOLIDAY ON ICE

On March 10, at the Ellis auditorium, 8:30 p.m., there will be presented a "Holiday On Ice" for Negro patrons. The project is being sponsored by the Zeta Phi Beta sorority and proceeds go to the Eyeglass and Scholarship Project.

Featured in the action will be "The Nutcracker," and 25 spectacular acts. To enjoy this rare treat tickets may be secured at LeMoyné college. Make plans to be present.

Soror Gloria Callian is basileus and soror Carlotta Stewart is chairman.

LEMOYNE'S 3F'S

Another report from the LEPC headed by Miss Dorothy Jackson (freshman) reveals that alterations are in order, for Miss Darnell Thomas was forced from the Number 1 spot by Miss Mary Cole, the "Sweetheart" of the Alphas. She is followed by:

Miss Darnell Thomas, Miss Naomi McAfee, Miss Geraldine McGraw, Miss Walter M. Young.

The young men's list of freshmen also shows changes as the Freshman's Popularity committee continues to tabulate. Mr. Melvin Greer and Frank Lyles are downed and completely banished from the 3F's by Charles Adair and Melvin Smith, who charges into first place. The list now reads:

Melvin Smith, Marvin Plunkett, Benjamin Ward, Fred Campbell, Charles Adair.

CIVILLY SPEAKING

A group of young men met at the Orleans hotel, Feb. 11, for the purpose of organizing a civic and social club. The club was named the ESPRIT-de-corps Club. The purpose of the club is to create in young men the common interest of civic affairs for the general welfare of the public. We believe that we owe something to the public and the community in which we live.

The charter members are: Clifton Drake, Willie Shotwell, Charles Baker, Willie Cooper, Melvin

Smith, Troy Vaughn, Nathan Clemmens, Johnny Watson, Roosevelt Jamison, Muldrow Wilson, Lawson Little and Thomas Wooten.

News concerning this organization can be seen in this column weekly.

RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK 11-18

Religion was the main objective of last week's series of chapel services featuring Dr. Winston King, dean of the chapel and professor of philosophy and religion at Grinnell college, Grinnell, Iowa.

A tea was given in the Teachers Lounge so as to allow the student body to chat with Dr. King informally and to allow time for discussion on his sermons.

ALUMNI DAY A SMASH

The Talent show of the Faculty-Alumni of LeMoyné, presented in C. A. Bruce hall on Sun. Feb. 10, was a smashing success and was apparently enjoyed by all the spectators.

MAD MAGICIANS ON HIKE

The Mad Magicians, LeMoyné's famed basketball team, left the campus on Wed. Feb. 13 to meet their last three rivals during this game season. We await patiently for their return and hope that they will bring home the bacon. Although the team's performance during the season has been rather embarrassing, we still have faith in them. Maybe next season the cards will change.

SHOCKING, BUT TRUE

The first official reports on the student grades for the first semester were released recently by the office. The grades were murder for many and joy for few. Long faces have been common around campus for the last few days but the shock is finally wearing off. Now we're not taking it so hard.

RAIN WET ENOUGH

Apparently the answer I'd received from several young men around campus would be no.

The swimming pool located in C. A. Bruce hall was opened for business again on Feb. 15, and the young college lads were on hand when the doors flew open. Some seen enjoying a mid-winter's beauty-bath were, George Miller, Fred Campbell, Marvin Plunkett, Jake Kelly, Ronald (Brain) Anderson, Winters Murry, Lawrence (Bill) Jackson, Lavern Montgomery, Square Pardee (life-guard), and Benjamin Poindexter.

Leadership Council Selects Greenville

GREENVILLE, MISS.—The 6th Annual Meeting of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership will be held in Greenville on Friday, April 26. Announcement of the date and place was made today by Rev. Theodore Trammell, newly elected president of the organization.

Rev. Trammell succeeds Dr. T. R. M. Howard as president of the organization. Dr. Howard has now taken up residence in Chicago. Rev. Trammell is pastor of Haven Methodist church at Clarksdale.

EARNs EDUCATION DOCTORATE

— Eugene Rone Arnold, executive director of the Project director of Project for Improved Utilization of Teacher Resources at Philander Smith college, received the Doctorate of Education degree from the University of Pittsburgh at its Winter commencement exercises on Feb. 1. Mr. Arnold, who has an extensive background as a social researcher, came to Philander Smith in September 1953 as Associate Professor of Education and Coordinator of General Education. He holds the M. Ed. from the University of Cincinnati, where he served on a University Fellowship under Dr. Carter V. Good, Dean of Teachers' College at Cincinnati; studied toward the B. D. at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School; and completed two years' work toward the Ph.D. at Ohio State University.

McNeil High Strides Toward Curtains Goal

The senior class of the Leroy McNeil High school made much progress toward their project goal of buying curtains for the stage in the auditorium of the gymnasium in the month of February.

The faculty agreed to the use of various methods in helping to raise the money.

One method was the selling for 10 cents each of tickets that would result in winning of a cake for some buyer. The cake was baked by three graduating seniors, Misses Annie Mae Thornton, Willie Mae Sanders and Emma Theresa Willis, under the supervision of Mrs. V. McNeil, home economics instructor.

February 12 the cake was given to R. Collins on behalf of Ben Leon of Chicago.

This was "Stunt Night" and the students presented many stunts, musical selections and readings for the spectators.

On Valentine's Day the senior class gave an appreciation Valentine Party for the classes which had sold the highest amount of tickets over 100.

Top classes were ninth grade, R. Collins, sponsor, $33 sixth grade, Mrs. M. E. Miller, sponsor, $17.25; and first grade, Mrs. C. B. Robertson, sponsor, $10.

Heart Fund Volunteers To Make Rounds Feb. 24

Some 7,000 volunteers will climb Memphis' 1957 Heart Fund drive with a door-to-door canvass for contributions 1 p.m.-5 p.m., on Sunday, Feb. 24.

This is the third annual Heart Sunday drive conducted by the Memphis Heart Association during its annual February Heart Fund campaign. Last year, over $37,000 was given on Heart Sunday. The Heart Fund's 1957 goal is $100,000 — needed to continue and expand research projects on heart disease, educational programs about the heart and community service activities for victims of heart disease.

"We know that heart disease is the nation's No. 1 health problem," Whit Brown, Heart Sunday chairman, said. "It kills more people than any other disease. And 1 million living Americans are victims of heart trouble now. Sunday, the people of Memphis and Shelby County have the opportunity to contribute easily and privately — in a sealed envelope — to fight heart disease. I'm sure they will respond to our appeal for support."

AREA CAPTAINS

Heart Sunday volunteers in the city will work under the direction of 200 district captains. Shelby County area chairmen are O. M. Rogers — Five points; Pierce

About once every 50 minutes on the average someone is burned to death in the United States.

Wonder High school's senior Lions won their first victory of the season, after losing eight straight, by defeating Lester High school of Memphis, 45-34.

The Juniors won, too, their sixth game out of nine, 46 to 26.

Words of the Wise
The true use of speech is not as much to express our wants as to conceal them.
—(Oliver Goldsmith)

A BLOW AT HEART DISEASES is struck here here by Mrs. Eva Hill, of 851 Saxon, as she drops a coin into heart-fund container held by Miss Billie Jean Hawkins, of 31 E. Utah, a Booker T. Washington High school junior, who was one of the 400 girls who accepted funds on Saturday on behalf of the annual Heart Fund campaign. Pinning on the emblem that shows Mrs. Hill has helped in the fight to curb the high death rate due to heart diseases is Miss Lorene Davis of 45 E. Utah, a friend of Miss Hawkins.
